ITALIAN CASE IN SPOTLIGHT AS BIG 4 MEET

British and Russian Interests Clash at Crucial Session on Colonies.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, April 29 — The four-power foreign ministers' conference ran into its most crucial session today, with the future of Italy's colonial posessions in North Africa and the Dodecanese islands in the Mediterranean on the agenda.

It was on these questions that Russian Mediterranean interests and Britain's empire communications were expected to clash directly. There were indications that discussion of the Italian colonies, particularly the disposition of Tripolitania, would take up most of the session.

Ask Trusteeship

The Russians have asked for a trusteeship over Tripolitania, but British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has declared such a grant would cut directly across Britain's Mediterranean communications to the Middle East and India. The United States has proposed a United Nation's trusteeship for Libya, which includes Tripolitania, as well as for Eritrea in East Africa.

The four-power commission went to make an on-the-spot investigation of the Yugoslav boundary question completed its report this morning and turned it over to typists for copying.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, conferred for three hours last night over a dinner table, but the subject discussed were not disclosed.

Despite today's tough agenda, the four ministers came to the session in an atmosphere of friendliness and conciliation. Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg (R-Mich) said he was "pleased" with the course of the meetings so far.

Three Compromises

United States sources cited these "compromises" as an indication of the apparent new Soviet attitude:

1. The Russians agreed to allow the French delegates to participate in discussion of Balkan treaties.

2. The Russians agreed, according to authoritative reports, to leave Italy a basic naval fleet and to divide the remainder of the Italian ships among the four major powers after satisfying claims of Yugoslavia and Greece.

The Russians reportedly dropped their Yalta reparations formula at first setting an over-all, global figure and then finding means of payment.

FEED ALLIES FIRST, OHIO'S SAWYER SAYS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—Urging care of our recent allies "and not our recent enemies," Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, former U. S. ambassador to Belgium, today declared reports of European starvation "were exaggerated" when he left Europe.

"I do not know what conditions are today in Europe," he told the Columbus Kiwanis club, "but I do know that when I was there a few months ago, statements made as to starvation in Europe were exaggerated."

In his prepared speech, Sawyer recommended keeping the atomic bomb secret and decried dissension among the Allies. "We are finding it easy to condemn our recent Allies," he said, "and we are becoming more and more solicitous of the welfare of our recent enemies."

"It is mathematically demonstrable that we cannot feed the world," he asserted. "That being so * * * which countries deserve (feeding)?

"For me, clearly and unequivocally, the ones who should be cared for are our recent Allies and not our recent enemies."

Sawyer stressed the view that the United States "must soon recognize the limits of our resources, as well as the limits of our obligations," he added:

"In years gone by, the American people have been like the generous son of a rich father * * * who has enjoyed the sensation of distributing his wealth freely and at times carelessly amid the clamors of the recipients.

"* * * should be clear that a time is arriving when we must have an accounting of our assets and liabilities and lay out a budget for our future."

New Right Wing Party Wins Turbulent German Election

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, April 29—Germany's fast growing new political party, the right-of-center Christian Social Union, won an overwhelming victory in week-end county council elections in the American zone, marred by rioting and pro-Nazi activity.

Conservative rural voters gave the church-supported party almost a two to one lead over its nearest rival, the slightly left wing Social Democrats.

The Communist party polled only a bare 5.4 per cent of the 3,136,347 votes cast in the second free election in the area in 13 years.

Street Battle Probed

While 6,043 elected county officials took their seats on rural councils today, four United States Army agencies were investigating a street battle between German voters and more than 5,000 Jewish displaced persons at Diessen in Bavaria.

Six persons were reported still in hospital out of 18 treated for stab wounds and beatings in the riot which finally was quelled by American soldiers.

Search was underway for two Jewish guards whose disappearance prompted the displaced persons to rush the German polls after a report circulated that the guards had been murdered by civilians.

Counter-espionage agents were probing the appearance of Nazi swastikas in another Bavarian town and the setting fire to a Communist meeting hall.

Catholic Vote Heavy

Rural voters in staunchly pro-Catholic Bavaria gave the Christian Social Union its big total of 1,779,203 votes to the Social Democrats' 936,763 by overriding the majority the latter secured in more industrialized greater Hesse.

It was in the province of greater Hesse that the Communists won their biggest vote, polling eight per cent of the total vote of 1,090,850 cast in the state, which includes the industrial cities of Frankfurt, Wiesbaden and Kassel.

G.O.P. Pushes Own OPA Bill

Taft Leads Fight To Force Party Program Through Democrat Lines.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 29 — A Republican effort to grab the price control ball in the senate and run it through badly disorganized Democratic lines prompted mixed predictions today to success and failure.

Shucking off the legislative wraps they have worn most of the time since 1933, the Republicans apparently are committing themselves to an open fight under the direction of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio to force through a program of their own.

It is the first move of this nature since the G.O.P. legislators adopted a general statement of policy last December. And it came at a time when dissatisfaction in Democratic ranks was demonstrated by a plea from Rep. Kilday (D-Texas) for his congressional colleagues to meet and adopt a program of their own.

Asserting that there now is no Democratic program except that sponsored by "certain individuals," Kilday criticized Secretary of Commerce Wallace in a statement for advocating that party members be punished for not supporting administration proposals.

Taft's move to put the minority steering committee and G.O.P. members of the banking committee on the line for a specific set of OPA proposals was looked upon generally as serving notice that the Republicans think the time has come for an open challenge to administration control of the senate.

Taft has talked of a "moderate"

UN SLATED TO VOTE FRANCO PROBE TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 29—The United Nations security council is expected to order an investigation of Franco Spain today unless Soviet Russia, only opponent of the move, delays action by attempting to invoke the veto.

As the delegates prepared to meet at 3 p. m., they were lined up 10 to 1 in favor of Australia's latest proposal to set up a five-man subcommittee to determine whether the Franco regime is threatening world peace.

At least one delegate—Rafael De La Colina of Mexico—attempted to win Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko over to the side of the majority in the interest of unanimity, but there was no evidence that he was successful.

At the time De La Colina talked with Gromyko he was understood to have held firm to his position that sufficient facts already are available to prove that the Franco regime is a menace to peace and

TOP MEN FACE 55 CHARGES AS WAR CRIMINALS

Leaders To Be Arraigned On May 3 Before Court of 11 Nations.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 29 — Japan's warlord Hideki Tojo and 27 other militaristic leaders were indicted by the Allies today as war criminals.

They will be arraigned May 3 on 55 specific charges ranging from murder of thousands of Americans—on Pearl Harbor Day—to conspiracy to hammer the whole world into slave states of the Axis.

Trials will be held before an 11-national tribunal.

Tribunal members heard Chief Allied Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan read the indictments at the Japanese war ministry building, then called U. S. Navy Capt. Beverly M. Coleman, who will head the defense, into a brief conference.

Neither Keenan nor Chief Justice Sir William Webb, who heads the Allied tribunal, would comment on the historic 35-minute session.

List of Accused

Named in the indictments were: Four former Premiers: Tojo, Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, Koki Hirota and Gen. Kuniaki Koiso.

Adm. Osami Nagano, former chief of staff whose direct order launched the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Gen. Kenji Doihara, Japan's "Lawrence of Manchuria," who engineered the pre-war Manchurian incident.

Three principal arrangers of the tri-partite pact with Italy and Germany: former Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, Gen. Hiroshi Oshima (ex-ambassador to Germany), and Toshio Shiratori (ex-ambassador to Italy.)

Six other former ministers: Gen. Sadao Araki, war; Okinori Kaya, finance; Jiro Minami, war; Manoru Shigenitsu, foreign; Shigetaro Shimada, navy; and Shigenori Togo, foreign minister when the war began.

Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu, who with Shigemitsu signed surrender terms aboard the USS Missouri in Tokyo bay last September.

Marquis Koichi Kido, former lord keeper of the privy seal and influential advisor to Emperor Hirohito.

Six other army leaders: Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, whose artil-

OHIO POLICE SEIZE 2 OF 3 FUGITIVES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 29—Two members of a trio of convicts were captured today after escaping from the Mansfield reformatory, looting a farmhouse and then forcing one occupant of the home to drive them here.

Detective Sergeant Howard Hutchins identified the pair as Anthony Berardinelli, 19, serving a term for robbery, and L. C. Smith, 19, convicted for purse snatching. Still sought was Donald R. Johnson, 18, convicted of robbery.

Several squads of heavily armed detective took the two into custody after Cliff Danner of Wooster told police the trio forced him to bring them here in his car from Ashland, Hutchins said.

Danner said he was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ira Martin at their farm near Ashland when the three broke into the farmhouse early today, stole clothing and $100 in cash and then ordered him into his car at the point of a shotgun. The three, who escaped yesterday afternoon, left the vehicle after arriving in Cleveland, he reported.

Police arrested Berardinelli and Smith after a volley of shots had been fired at them in an alley, Hutchins said. Johnson was believed to have been wounded, he added.

PRESIDENT SET ON COURT JOBS

Truman To Announce Choices Soon; Turns Attention to Coal Shortage.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 29—President Truman, his mind made up on the supreme court, turned today to a search for means of settling the nationwide soft coal strike before industrial paralysis sets in.

The President's choice of a new chief justice to replace the late Harlan F. Stone and of a new member of the court to succeed the man who will be elevated to the presiding spot are expected to be announced early this week—possibly tomorrow.

But White House confidantes for the most part declined to verify this ripest speculation: (1) that either Robert H. Jackson or William O. Douglas will be moved up to head the court and (2) that Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a Republican, will be added to its membership.

Jackson In Germany

Jackson, a close friend of Mr. Truman, is serving as chief U. S. prosecutor at the Nazi war crimes trials in Nuernberg and probably would not return to the bench before the June adjournment even if he gets the nod. The new court term opens in October.

Some Capitol Hill friends of the President said they think that if Patterson is moved into the tribunal, W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of war for air, might be questioned for the cabinet post.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman's concern over the dwindling coal supply was reflected in the solemn demeanor of Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, who also accompanied the President back to Washington from Quantico, Va., after a week-long vacation.

The reconversion chief reportedly told the President that if the 400,000 soft coal miners remain out of the pits another two weeks the paralyzing effect of the strike will be felt all over the country. It already has hit the steel industry hard, Snyder told Mr. Truman.

Truman Names New Ambassador to Peru

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 29—Prentice Cooper, former governor of Tennessee, was nominated by President Truman today to be ambassador to Peru.

Cooper will succeed William D. Pawley, recently named ambassador to Brazil.

Cooper long has been associated in the Democratic party activities with Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), president pro tempore of the senate.

BREAK-IN ATTEMPTED

An attempted break-in was reported at the home of Harold Henry of 155 Johnson street Saturday at 9:22 p. m. The glass was found broken out of the rear porch door.

U. S. Leaders Study Charge Vets' Homes Are Too High Priced

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 29 — A complaint that FHA is approving new homes as over-priced that ex-GI's cannot get guaranteed loans to buy them resulted in a top-level huddle of housing and veterans officials today.

National Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt Jr. chose not to reply immediately to the contention of Francis X. Pavesic, Veterans Administration guarantee chief, that veterans are being forced into the black market to get shelter.

But Wyatt was due to confer with Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administrator, on the problem—as he announced a week ago he would—and with Commissioner Raymond Foley of the Federal Housing Administration.

This outcome was indicated:

1. That more detailed plans and specifications will be required before FHA grants priority and price approval for new dwellings;

2. That FHA will devise a system of inspecting the homes being built, to insure that their ascribed value will meet VA's appraisal standards so veterans can get federal guarantees on loans to buy them.

FAILURE SEEN IN CHINA TRUCE

Report Marshall and Chiefs Unable To Reach Accord in Manchuria.

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, April 29—Informed Chinese sources said tonight that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Communist General Chou En-lai and U. S. General George Marshall had failed to reach an agreement that would halt fighting in Manchuria. They have been conferring constantly.

Negotiations will be transferred to Nanking, where the capital is transferring this week, these sources declared.

Marshall was expected to fly to Nanking tomorrow, with Chou and Chiang following later in the week.

Marshall's headquarters still was silent regarding progress of the negotiations but Chinese sources said the Generalissimo had rejected a democratic league formula for truce in Manchuria, leaving the Communists in control of Harbin and Changchun, the capital.

These sources said Chiang is depending upon his armies to reconquer Changchun before agreeing to a truce.

Marshall's Four-Point Peace Plan Listed

By The Associated Press

NANKING, April 29—General Marshall has submitted a four-point proposal to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Communist General Chou En-lai for settlement of the grave Manchurian situation, the usually reliable Tsin Min Pao, a pro-government newspaper, reported today.

In a Chungking dispatch, the newspaper disclosed the points:

1. An immediate and unconditional armistice.

2. Retention of the status quo of the Manchurian regimes until a general election.

3. Reorganization of Manchurian troops under an army reform program.

4. Discontinuation of the use of United States ships for transferring troops to Manchuria ex-

Marion Woman Dies As Car Hits Pole

Mrs. June Barbara Maag, 26, of 753 Oak Grove avenue was killed Sunday at 2:37 a. m. when the car in which she was riding went out of control as it rounded a curve and crashed into a telephone pole near 879 Davids street. She was taken to City hospital by the Boyd-Uncapher ambulance where she was pronounced dead on arrival. Mrs. Maag was the wife of Robert Maag Jr., son of Robert Maag, a partner in the Marion Rapid Transit Co.

The car was driven by Richard J. Augenstein, 20, of 753 Oak Grove avenue, Mrs. Maag's brother. He was treated and released at City hospital.

Two other occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Jordan of 738 Oak Grove, were seriously injured. Their condition was given today as fair at City hospital. Both suffered concussions of the brain and multiple lacerations of the face and body. Jordan sustained a broken right thigh. They were taken to the hospital by the Smith and Gunder ambulances.

Mrs. Maag was born June 11, 1919, in Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Augenstein. Her mother was the former Catherine Rengert. Both parents were born in Marion county and now live at 753 Oak Grove avenue. She was married to Robert Maag Jr. March 11, 1941. They have one son, John Ray Maag. She was a member of the First Evangelical and Reformed church. Surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Ronald Augenstein of Windsor street, Warren and Richard Augenstein of Oak Grove avenue, Mrs. Mabel Matthews of McKinley street, Mrs. Helen Kramer of Carlington road, and Mrs. Glenna Cramer of Congress street.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Boyd and Uncapher funeral home. Services will be conducted by Rev. E. H. Wierth. Burial will be at Forest Glen Memorial park. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 p. m. today.

Richwood Resident, Employed in City, Is Killed in Crash

David Stout, 40, of Richwood was instantly killed at 3:45 p. m. Saturday when the car he was driving struck a car driven by Richard E. Wynn, 18, of Atlantic City just south of Richwood on route 37.

State highway patrolmen said the cause of death was a punctured lung. He was driving on the wrong side of the road and the two cars struck headon. Why Stout was on the wrong side is unknown but he has suffered from heart trouble in the past and speculation is that he may have suffered a heart attack.

Mr. Wynn suffered slight cuts and bruises.

Mr. Stout was born in Richwood, July 1, 1905, the son of Orland and Rachel Burroughs Stout. March 25, 1939, he married Romella Houseworth, who survives him. They have one son, Jack, at home.

He was employed at the Marion

Mason Weaver, Retired Postal Worker, Dies at Home Here

Mason Henry Weaver, 81, retired postoffice worker, died about 1:10 p. m. yesterday in his home at 262 South High street. He had been ill since last fall, and suffered from a heart ailment.

Born July 11, 1864, in Lebanon, Pa., he was a son of J. Henry Weaver and Lela Sugar Weaver. Nov. 14, 1888, he married Beatrice Kessler in Marion. A resident of Marion 80 years, the family moving here from Lebanon. His father was one of the early sheriffs in Marion county.

Mr. Weaver retired Oct. 31, 1931, at the age of 67, having rounded out 36 years of active service, most of which was spent as a carrier in the business district. He succeeded the late Miss Sarah Barker as forwarding clerk on Nov. 5, 1923, which position he filled until his retirement.

Mr. Weaver succeeded Charles Clark one of four original city carriers and at that time the postoffice was located in the McNeal-Wolford block on West Center street. His work called for two deliveries a day and the general delivery window was open until 6:30 o'clock each day and from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. on Sunday. He entered the service April 10, 1895, as a substitute carrier and received his appointment as a regular carrier on May 21 of the same year.

Surviving are his widow and a son, Donald K. Weaver, at home.

MASON H. WEAVER

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

Killing Frost Nips Fruit As Mercury Falls to 29 Degrees

A killing frost Saturday night left many fruit blossoms and small garden plants wilted and black in the Marion area and was reported to have done considerable damage throughout central and northern Ohio.

Considerable damage to apple, peach and strawberry blossoms as well as to tomato and other small garden plants was reported. No severe damage to field crops was reported.

Temperatures Saturday night dropped to 29 degrees, freezing thin coatings of ice on puddles, especially in the low areas protected from the wind. Temperatures rose Sunday and last night's low was 45 degrees. The warmer weather brought with it 15 inches of rain, badly needed by farmers throughout the area, although additional rain still is needed.

County Agricultural Agent Arthur M. Hatch said he believed the fruit crop would be hard hit in this area. Last night's rain was badly needed for corn crops, but the ground can stand about three times that much, according to the county agent.

Some damage to peaches was reported at the Lawrence fruit farms as well as apples and strawberries, although officials said most of the strawberry blossoms were not far enough advanced to be severely damaged.

STEPFATHER ADMITS SLAYING OHIO GIRL

By The Associated Press

CUYAHOGA FALLS, O., April 29—Police reported that James W. Bickett 43, had signed a written confession that he shot and killed his pretty brunette stepdaughter, Mary Baranyos, in a crowded grocery market here Saturday.

Acting Detective Capt. John Stewart reported Bickett signed the confession last night while awaiting arraignment today on a first degree murder charge in the revolver slaying of the 20-year-old grocery clerk.

Stewart quoted the cigar-chewing stepfather as saying "the girl snapped me off so I shot her." Stewart also reported Bickett accused the girl of being responsible for "breaking up" their home and causing the loss of a "family automobile."

The Akron Truss Co. employe admitted in his statement that he entered the grocery, talked to the girl for a few minutes, and then drew a revolver and fired five bullets into her body, said Capt. Stewart. Bickett was captured later by a crowd of pursuers who cornered him in a vacant lot.

James Wickiser, with whom the girl was reported to have had a "romance by mail," was on his way home today after discharge from a Marine hospital at Brighton, Mass. The local youth has been in the U. S. Coast Guard for the last year.

Services for Miss Baranyos will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at St. Joseph's Catholic church.

ARMY TREATS OHIO HERO TO HOLIDAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—Melvin Mayfield, a Congressional Medal of Honor tucked away among his mementoes, today began a two-day holiday here as the guest of the U. S. Army.

The medal was presented to Mayfield, a 27-year-old former corporal in the Sixth division, during ceremonies held here yesterday in connection with initiation of 1,200 Ohio ex-servicemen into the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The holiday for Mayfield, a Nashport, O., farmer, and his wife, Emma, was made possible through a fund appropriated for expenses of Medal of Honor winners.

Prominent military figures mingled with several thousand spectators yesterday as Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson, commander of the Second army, placed the medal on the tall, rawboned Ohioan.

Mayfield, so reticent even his wife had not heard details of his heroic action on northern Luzon nine months ago, was named for the award for his "gallant single" handed effort in aiding two Filipino companies pinned down under a torrent of enemy fire."

Among witnesses to the ceremony at Ohio State university stadium were Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, a native Ohioan, and Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler of Columbus, head of the Fifth Service Command, who addressed the gathering.

Mayfield's wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Esrael W. Mayfield, also of Nashport, watched the presentation from a nearby box.

Others attending the ceremony included Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Brig. Gen. Edward S. Bres of Washington, who represented Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower; Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay, native of Columbus, and Brig. Gen. Merritt A. Edson of the Marine Corps, wartime leaders of "Edson's Raiders" also a Congressional Medal of Honor winner.

MARION AIR SCOUTS VISIT WRIGHT FIELD

Group Accompanied by J. H. Walker and John Pickerel.

A group of 12 Air Scouts, accompanied by J. H. Walker and John Pickerel, who aid in instruction of the local Air Scout squadron, made the first of several planned field trips Tuesday when they made a tour of the army air corps' Wright Field at Dayton.

Among equipment shown them by Wright Field officials were wind tunnels, having wind velocity from 400 to 1,700 miles per hour. The tunnels are used to test new types of equipment, including rib type parachutes and the new B-35, a six-engine plane known as the "Flying Wing." The boys were also shown clothing and equipment used by the air force for many types of conditions in various theaters.

After a lunch at the field's officers' club, the boys inspected a Link trainer, and some of them tried it out. At the flight line and hangar area the Scouts saw several types of army aircraft, including the P-80 or "Shooting Star" and two German Junker bombers.

The Air Scouts meet in rooms above the Marion County bank every Tuesday night. All boys 15 years or over are eligible to join.

An accident occurred between cars driven by Harold E. Holt, 40, of 478 Jefferson street and Don E. Lusch, 40, of 278 Uhler avenue on Jefferson street near the Big Four railroad tracks Saturday at 2:15 a. m. Police said the cars sideswiped while passing in opposite directions.

Railway Mail Groups Meet at Luvisi Home

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Luvisi, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shipley, were hosts for a meeting of the Railway Mail association and Ladies auxiliary, Thursday afternoon at their home at 209 Hane avenue. The occasion marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the auxiliary and present were two charter members, Mrs. Luvisi and Mrs. Harry Evans. Separate meetings were held by the groups and later the members joined for a social evening and contests and a potluck dinner. Mrs. A. J. Matson, president, and Mrs. M. C. Rouse, secretary-treasurer, who were recently elected, presided for the auxiliary meeting. Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kraft of South State street will be hosts for the May meeting.

Party Declaration Not Required for School Bond Vote

Marion voters need not declare their politics in order to vote on the school bond issue, according to a report today from the Marion county board of elections.

Board officials explained that any voter could receive a school bond issue ballot without asking for a party ballot. They based their opinion on a secretary of state ruling given in 1940 which states "a precinct election official shall, upon demand, issue to a qualified elector a bond issue ballot at a primary election without first requiring such elector to state his politics and take a primary ballot."

Many voters, interested in the school bond issue, will vote on the measure and disregard the party ballots, election officials believe. Eight servicemen already have voted absentee ballots on the school issue and not voted on political candidates, according to reports.

Two Men Arrested After Row at Junk Yard

An altercation at Joe Azaroff's junk yard at 173 Davids street Saturday at 1:20 p. m. resulted in the placing of charges of intoxication, assault and battery and destruction of property against two men today in municipal court. They are William Lamb, 29, and Charles L. McCann, both of Hotel Marion.

McCann paid $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking a plate glass window at Azaroff's establishment. Both men pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery brought against them by Azaroff. Hearing dates were not set. Lamb made no plea today on a charge of intoxication brought against him. The men are being held in the city jail until hearing.

YOUTH DENIES CHARGE

An 18-year-old youth pleaded not guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in municipal court today. He was released on $50 bond. Hearing date was not set. Police said he was arrested after a group of young people who were playing ball in a vacant north side lot had been ordered by patrolmen to get off the premises. When the patrolmen returned, they said, they found him still there and arrested him.

$16 TAKEN FROM STORE

A breaking and entering at Bobbs Hat Shop at 127 East Church street was reported to police today by Robert Campbell, manager. No merchandise was reported missing but $16 was reported taken from the till. Entrance was not made by force, the intruder evidently using a key.

GIVEN $50 FINE

E. M. Ellis, 37, of 306 Hane avenue paid $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty in municipal court today to a charge of having physical control of a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Police said he was arrested on West Columbia street Saturday night while sitting at the wheel of a parked car.

COAL STRIKE MAY 'BROWN OUT' CHICAGO

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 29—Start of the soft coal strike's fifth week today found steel ingot operations at but 54.5 per cent of theoretical capacity in Pittsburgh and the threat of an electricity "brownout" arising in Chicago, the nation's second largest steel center.

Steel output in Pittsburgh had dropped to almost one-half of the 99 per cent rate in effect when the strike of 400,000 AFL bituminous miners began April 1.

Announcing its coal stockpiles will hold out only until May 21, the Commonwealth Edison group of power companies said it would petition the Illinois commerce commission today to restrict use of electric current in Chicago and northern Illinois. Commission Chairman John D. Biggs said some form of "brownout" would be considered.

If 16,000 independent Progressive Mine Workers strike tomorrow, as they have threatened, the coal shutdown would be complete in Illinois. The Progressives, like the AFL United Mine Workers, are seeking the same pay—about $54—for a 30-hour week as they now receive for a 42-hour week.

The 75,000 Pennsylvania anthracite miners of UMW Chief John L. Lewis, whose negotiations with operators open at New York May 10, have filed a 30-day strike notice. Their contract expires May 31.

While the government renewed efforts at Washington to settle the bituminous strike, effects of the 29-day-old coal stoppage mounted in the nation's industrial and economic life. The strike has already idled 60,000 persons in related industries, mostly steel.

and a crew of six, in an army transport plane, crash-landed on a coral reef, the water waist-high in the shattered cabin. For four days, in thirst, hunger, and pain, they waited for a rescue that might never come. On the fifth long day of waiting, a 19-year-old boy, sick with malaria and with wounds in his side and back, remembered it was Sunday. Church services were being held back home. There in the lone Pacific they too held service. "O most powerful and glorious Lord God," they prayed, "we cry unto thee for help." Before another Sunday help did come.

Potatoes are one of the most adaptable leftovers. They are good in soups, stews or salads. Also, try hash browned, creamed or browned whole with a touch of onion. Mashed potatoes do not keep quite as well as those boiled in their jackets, so use them within two or three days. Add an egg and a little milk for a baked potato puff.

Currencies of several Latin American countries have been named after celebrated persons: Boliviano (Bolivia), Bolivar (Venezuela) for Simon Bolivar; Colon (Costa Rica and El Salvador) for Columbus; Sucre (Ecuador) for General de Sucre; Balboa (Panama) for Vasco Nunez de Balboa.

The first occasion upon which any American flag floated over foreign territory was in 1776 when an expedition was organized against New Providence in the Bahama islands, for the purposes of seizing a quantity of powder stored there.

Samuel F. B. Morse proposed at the outbreak of the Civil war that the national U. S. flag should be cut in two, the North retaining the upper six and one-half stripes, and those stars above a diagonal line extending from the head of the staff to the lower corner of the canton.

MOTORIST POSTS BOND

Ralph D. Peak, 53, of Delaware posted $25 bond for his appearance in acting Mayor Paul White's court at Delaware to answer charges of driving with insufficient lights. He was arrested yesterday at 8 p. m. on route 42 near Delaware by state highway patrolmen.

Protect Home Against Fires

Some Important Things To Remember in Making Building Plans.

The tragic and costly losses in life and property from residential fires in the United States can be cut in half by building fire-safe homes and communities, according to the National Fire Protection association.

Fires start from a number of causes, but the enormous losses each year are due largely to flames which spread because too many structures are not fire-safe. The association estimates that in the next 10 years 25 per cent of residential America will move into new homes and millions of old homes will be modernized and repaired.

If home planners profit by today's broad knowledge of fire-safe building materials and designs, they have an excellent opportunity to sharply reduce the residential fire menace.

Fundamentals of fire safety in homes include:

1. Efficient heating plants properly installed and adequately safeguarded, with sufficient space for servicing equipment, for access to chimney cleanouts and for fuel storage.

2. Chimneys properly built to recognized standards and kept clean and heating ducts, flues and vents properly installed, cleaned and maintained.

3. Roofs covered with fire-resistant or fireproof materials, such as asbestos cement shingles, which cannot burn. Combustible roofs are vulnerable to sparks from chimneys and from flying brands from nearby fires. The building codes of 400 cities prohibit use of combustible roof covering because of the part played by such material in 59 major conflagrations since 1900. Exterior walls also should be built to resist fires which may start in nearby structures. Asbestos cement sidings are especially effective in providing this sort of fire protection.

4. Eelectrical wiring that is adequate and sound, to avoid overloading circuits and to provide for probable future acquisition of appliances. Closets and storage space should be equipped with electric lights to avoid use of matches or candles.

5. Effective steps to prevent interior spreading of flames. Fire-stops should be installed in walls and partitions to prevent flames from spreading from the basement to upper floors. All wood joists, rafters and studding should be covered with fire-resistive material. Basement ceilings and furnace rooms should be covered with safe materials, such as fire-proof asbestos cement board. Basements, furnace rooms, storage rooms and attached garages should be provided with doors that will hold back fire. Asbestos cement board also is effective for this purpose.

6. A kitchen designed to avoid curtains, doors and cabinet shelving in close proximity to the cooking range.

7. An architect and a builder who agree that fire-safety, as well as livability, is essential in planning and building a home.

8. Insistence upon competent inspection during construction.

9. Use of fire protection devices recommended by fire departments.

10. Use of common sense to avoid carelessness, which is the largest single cause of fires. It can defeat all precautions taken to provide a fire-safe home.

11. Consideration of availability of public fire protection and adequacy of water supply in selecting a site for a home.

Many Golfers Out on Course Here Sunday

Despite chilly weather Sunday, both golf courses reported heavy play over the week-end. At Mar-O-Del 125 played the course Sunday and the Country club reports more than 50 Sunday afternoon.

At the Country club a blind bogey tournament was played with 22 competing. R. M. Cheney, Dr. W. A. Dennis and Robert Mason tied for first and split the prize three ways. Robert LaMarche and J. B. Bray turned in the lowest gross scores of the day with 86 each.

At Mar-O-Del the low score of the day was turned in by Samuel Bowman who reported a 75. Elmer Darnell shot a 77 and John Rife an 80. A blind bogey tournament is planned for next Sunday.

Motorist Arrested After Collision

Robert L. Powers, 35, of 219 Leader street pleaded not guilty today in municipal court to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He posted $125 for his appearance at a hearing at a later date.

He was arrested by state highway patrolmen Saturday in Waldo after a collision with a car driven by Fred W. Strasshem, 56, of Chicago. Patrolmen said Powers ran into the rear of the Strasshem car.

AUTO BLOCKADE BARS DETROIT PLANE PLANT

Cars Jam Road to Strikebound Stinson Factory.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 29—A blockade of several hundred automobiles, parked two abreast, was thrown up today on the main highway leading to the strike-bound Stinson Aircraft division of Consolidated Aircraft Corp., scene of a brief picket line clash last week.

A crowd of 500 men and women, many carrying union signs, milled about the plant but there was no disorder. The auto blockade was withdrawn after about an hour and a half.

State police, who sent an extra detail to the area, said traffic was completely blocked by union members who parked their cars on the road and then abandoned them.

About 800 production workers have been idle since April 2 in a strike by the CIO United Auto Workers Local 786. The company and the union have been unable to agree on union demands including wage rate "equalities" and maintenance of membership.

Jackson Asks Court To Bar Streicher

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 29—Repeated clashes between Julius Streicher and his own defense attorney caused U. S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson to demand today that the international military eribunal send the Nazi Jew-baiting editor "back to his cell" and require him to submit the remainder of his case in writing.

The court ignored Jackson's demand, but the tribunal's president, Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence admonished Streicher to "kindly treat your counsel and this tribunal with due courtesy."

The witness had complained that his attorney, Hanna Marx, had refused to submit evidence to support his writings about Jewish "ritual murders."

When his attorney referred to such writings as a "serious matter," Streicher angrily interrupted with the demand that "my own counsel must not judge me. The prosecution can do that."

GI CANDIDATE AND PARTY STOP HERE

Clevelander and Ex-Servicemen Camp Out on Tour.

George L. Mark of Cleveland, Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large, visited Democratic leaders in Marion today on his statewide campaign tour.

The former serviceman, accompanied by four other World War II veterans, carries camping equipment with him and spends his nights in fields or woodlots, sleeping under a pup tent.

Mark's party spent last night in a wooded area near the intersection of state routes 529 and 98 east of Marion. He came to Marion from Delaware and plans to visit Lima and St. Marys today.

The Cleveland candidate spent ten months in service with the army engineers and was discharged Dec. 17, 1945. He was a barber supply salesman for 10 years in the Cleveland area prior to his entering service. He was previously a field representative for the federal housing administration.

Mark has fashioned himself as "the GI's spokesman." He gained nationwide publicity recently when he referred to Army "brass" by calling them "bemedaled phoneys" and "Pentagon Boy Scouts" at a congressional hearing.

U. S. CORN BONUS TO PUT PIGS ON DIET

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 29—The little pig who comes to market from this point on is going to get a lot thinner than his colleagues who arrived earlier this year.

That will be one result of the government's campaign to get corn off farms, livestock traders said today. The government is paying a bonus of 30 cents a bushel over ceiling prices for better grade corn.

Lighter weight pigs means less fat on pork chops, roast pork, bacon and other hog derivatives—a fact which, traders admitted, is interesting physically but is primarily academic to housewives who can't find meat anyway.

Livestock men, forecasting the disappearance of the fatty porker, reasoned this way:

1. Until now farmers have found it much more profitable to feed corn to hogs than to sell the grain. Hence, pigs have been fattening on a lush corn diet.

2. With the bonus calculated in the sale price, it is now more profitable to sell corn than to feed it to hogs. Corn is going off the pig menu.

Farmers are expected to send their hogs to market sooner than they otherwise would have done—which means not only lighter hogs, but more of them.

This trend already is underway. Fat, thin or medium, in large numbers or small numbers, the porkers will receive an enthusiastic welcome at stockyards. Packers pay OPA ceilings for anything they can get, without bothering to sort out offerings on a quality basis.

At Least 10 Killed in Ohio Accidents

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of at least ten Ohioans over the week-end.

Two Mount Vernon residents died in separate accidents, sending Knox county's highway death toll for the year to six. They were: William W. Boyle, 51, and Fredreca Farley 85.

Boyle died in a truck-train crash at a Pennsylvania railroad crossing in Mount Vernon. Farley was struck by an auto in suburban Academia.

Akron added three deaths to its traffic toll. George House, 23, of Barberton was killed in a motorcycle-bus crash; Arthur D. Rose, 35, died after a truck-auto collision, and Raleigh C. White, 54, was injured fatally by a car.

Other fatalities included:

Youngstown — Jackie Voytek, 10, in bicycle-auto crash;

Cincinnati—Mrs. Ida D. Smith, 68, struck by driverless auto rolling down hill;

Gallipolis—Jack Darnell, 32, car left road and overturned 12 miles north of Gallipolis;

Portsmouth — Clifford Frazie, 32, car hit culvert, throwing him from back seat through windshield.

Green Urges Senate To Rescue OPA

WASHINGTON, April 29—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor urged the senate today to reject "promptly and unhesitantly" house OPA proposals which he said would "amend price control to death."

"Hesitation will only breed chaos," he said. "Delay will only multiply confusion. Every day of postponement of the decision will help the profiteer and hearten the speculator."

Testifying before the senate banking committee, Green said "the most dangerous" of the house amendments to legislation extending OPA beyond June 30 is one which would remove price control from any item whose production equals the 1940-41 rate.

He noted that there are now 8,000,000 more Americans than there were six years ago and accumulated demand for goods is vast because of non-civilian production in the war years.

The labor leader, saying he spoke for 7,000,000 AFL members, also called unsound a house amendment requiring assurance of a profit on every item a manufacturer or distributor handles.

He said the house went too far in voting to terminate by the end of the year the subsidies which the government now pays processors to keep down retail prices of food.

He agreed that subsidies should be terminated "in an orderly manner" which will disturb the economy as little as possible."

MARION ALL SET FOR "MEET THE CARDS" BANQUET TONIGHT

Trautman Talk To Highlight Pre-Opening Day Program; 16 Men on Eligible Roster

400 Expected at Masonic Temple Tonight for Presentation of Team and Address by Tiger Boss.

By JIM DARBY

Marion fans will get their first official look at the Cardinals, who will carry Marion's banner in the Ohio State flag race, tonight at the first annual baseball dinner at Masonic Temple at 6:30 p. m. The season opens tomorrow night.

Manager Wally Schang will present the team, who will be the guests of honor at tonight's affair. Sponsored by the inter-club council, the banquet will present George M. Trautman, vice-president and general manager of the Detroit Tigers, as principal speaker.

Wilson B. Tway will act as master of ceremonies. Invocation will be given by Rev. Howard Olewiler. Mayor Harry L. Dower will give a welcoming address and Judge W. Dexter Hazen, president of the Marion Cardinals, will respond.

Following the dinner, the guests of honor will be introduced and Trautman will speak. Benediction will be given by Rev. E. H. Hluley.

GEORGE M. TRAUTMAN
To Speak Here Tonight

Tickets at Door

Attendance is expected to reach the limit set at 4000. Some tickets will be on sale at the door tonight. Price is $1.50.

Eighteen men will be presented by Manager Wally Schang. Sixteen of them will be eligible to play in tomorrow night's opener against the Lima Terriers. Two more will be eligible within the next few days.

The team and the directors of the club were the guests of the Lion's club at a luncheon today.

How They Line Up

Holding down the catching assignments will be Vernon Rapp and James Lilly. Stephen Lazar, who reported Saturday, will be at second base.

Leo Perine in center field, Charles Frey in left and Robert Dix or Melvin Wiebel will be the gardeners. William MacFarland and Angelo Veneri will work first base.

Raymond Haley will play shortstop and six pitchers are available to Manager Wally Schang for the opener. They are Joe Roseberry, James Myers, William Seyfried, Fred Fass, David Molloy and Joe Pusateri.

Schang is still uncertain about his starting pitcher and of course, the handler of the "hot corner."

There is still a hole at third base in the Marion line-up because of the workings of the law governing baseball players who went from a baseball job into the armed forces. Sebastian Schneider, who has been working out with the Cardinals and pitcher Douglas Nicholson are on the National Defense list of the Lynchburg, Va., club.

Under the law, a player who left baseball for the service must be given a 60-day tryout in the classification he held prior to induction before he can be released outright or sent to a lower club on waivers.

Although both players are now working with Marion and will be officially on waiver to the local club soon, their 60 days are not up until May 4. They will boost the Card list to 18 men.

The rules of baseball provide that class D club may carry up to 20 players on its roster until, under a new ruling, June 15. Formerly cutdowns were required after 20 days of play.

After June 15 the roster may carry only 15 names until 20 days before the end of the season when a maximum of 20 can again be signed.

Cards Have Civil War

Yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Park the eighteen men now with the Cardinals played eight innings of a wild ball game in which several men played for both sides. Pitchers would play a field position for one team several innings, pitch for the other team, then return to still a different position with the original team. Wally Schang umpired.

Frey, Lazar, Perine, MacFarland, Haley, Dix, Schneider, Lilly and Molloy started for one team—the winners. Veneri, Wiebel, Roseberry (playing in the outfield), Pusateri (at second base) Fass (in the outfield), Rapp, Myers (in the outfield), Nicholson (at third base) and Seyfried (surprisingly pitching) made up the other—the losers.

Roseberry pitched two innings for the winners then went back to the losers at third base. The others in the "team of pitchers" traded positions with each other while they took turns at hurling.

Final Score 15-3

The winners made 15 runs on 15 hits and committed two errors while the losers scored three runs on three hits and kicked the ball around six times.

Frey, who showed plenty of power last Sunday against Schlairet, continued to rattle fence boards with three hits, a single, a double and a triple. Wiebel and Haley slammed out home runs. Lazar got two three baggers and Dix, Nicholson and Rapp came through with doubles.

Lazar also collected a single as did MacFarland, Haley, and Wiebel. Schneider and Lilly got two each.

Molloy allowed one run, one hit in three innings while he was striking out four and issuing four walks. Roseberry in two innings struck out four, allowed one walk and no hits. Nicholson allowed one hit in two innings. Pusateri allowed two hits and two runs. Seyfried gave up five hits and six runs, Myers allowed one run on two hits and Fass gave six runs and six hits.

Marysville Ace Holds St. Mary to Two Hits, Wins Opener 8-1

Marysville's flash pitcher Noel Howard pitched a two hit ball game Saturday at Lincoln Park to blank St. Mary's 8 to 1 in the Irish's first baseball game of the season and their first in many years.

Moran, pitching for the Irish, gave up only six hits but three errors by his teammates, a walk and four batters hit, plus a triple and two doubles, proved his downfall.

Marysville scored first in the third inning when they collected five runs on four hits. The Irish scored their one run in the fifth inning.

Sampson and Dunn own St. Mary's two hits, both singles.

CHAMPION BREWERS LAGGING IN A.A. Race

Fans Wonder When They'll Start Drive for Title

By The Associated Press

If Milwaukee's Brewers intend to repeat their American Association championship of the past two years, their partisans would like to know when they're going to start.

Right now the Brewers are in last place with four wins and eight losses. Yesterday they could get no more than an even break with Kansas City, now in seventh place and a cellar dweller a good share of last season.

The Brewers won the opener yesterday, 4 to 1. Kansas City came from behind to win the nightcap, 4-2.

St. Paul, current league leader, won two games from its bitter rival, Minneapolis, 10-7 and 6-5 before a crowd of 15,761, largest in the history of Minneapolis baseball.

Second - place Indianapolis rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to defeat third-place Louisville, 7-6.

Toledo and Columbus split their doubleheader, the Red Birds winning the opener 5-3 and the Mud Hens taking a ten-inning nightcap, 2-1.

Larkin and Joyce Seek Title Tonight

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, April 29 — Tippy Larkin of Garfield, N. J., and William Joyce, the Gary, Ind. Negro, will battle tonight for the vacant junior welterweight throne.

The bout, approved by the Massachusetts commission, the NBA and the New York commission, is scheduled for 12 rounds.

Larkin, claiming a string of 24 victories, has one 10-round decision over Joyce, gained last August in New York, and is confident he'll ascend to the throne Barney Ross abdicated when he got too big a decade ago.

Embree Wins Own Game, Tribe Opens Yankee Seri

NEW YORK, April 29—Charley (Red) Embree, rookie pi... who has applied the "brake" to two Cleveland Indians' ... streaks this year, was a tired out happy fireballer today as ... Tribe moved into Yankee stadium for the opener of its ... eastern tour.

Embree chose the proper setting for the greatest performa... of his baseball career yesterday as an all-time record-breal... crowd of 67,129 Detroit fans ... washed him plum and but the Indians to 8 to 1 victory over the Tigers in a 12-inning battle.

The Army veteran drove in Cleveland's winning runs with a ... long double in the top half of the stanza to walk off with his second straight victory. The Tigers were limited to six hits in the overtime duel.

Embree also rapped a single to share Tribe batting honors with Manager Lou Boudreau who poled two doubles. The triumph snapped a three-game losing streak and lifted the Indians into fifth place.

Hank Greenberg drove his second homer of the year into the lower left field seats in the fourth frame for the only Detroit tally.

Pat Seerey slammed a mighty round-tripper, his first of the year, into the upper left field seats in the seventh inning to tie the score with the first tally off Frank (Stubby) Overmire.

Embree and Overmire were locked in a gruelling pitching duel for the next four innings until rookie Sherman Lollar, the third Tribe catcher to appear in the contest, rapped a double after two were out in the 12th. Dutch Meyer was purposely passed, setting the stage for Embree's game-winning drive.

Allie Reynolds will attempt to silence the Bronx Bombers' bats today with Floyd Bevens hurling for the Yanks in the first of a three-game series.

SCHLAIRET NOSES OUT CARDINGTON 4 TO 2

Morrow Countians Scoreless After First Inning.

Schlairet Transfer baseball team took the measure of the Cardington Merchants 4 to 2 yesterday at Cardington. Max Roseberry, who pitched the first five innings, gets credit for the win. Dick Mulvaine, relieving pitcher, was also in fine shape.

Schlairet got its first runs in the first inning when Somerlot got on by an error, Roseberry doubled, Somerlot beat out the play at home on French's grounder, Creasap singled to score Roseberry.

Cardington came back to tie the score in their half of the inning when Harris got on by an error, Pace doubled scoring Harris. Crum was hit by the pitcher then Cotchmyer singled to score Pace.

In the fourth inning Schlairet went ahead when Paulus singled then stole second and came in on Schaadt's single. They collected their last run in the fifth inning when Somerlot doubled and stole third. He scored on French's grounder.

Boston Dreams of City Series As Beantown Boys Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pennant-starved Boston, which hasn't boasted a championship team since 1918, has good reason for dreaming today of its first flag winner in 28 years, and with a little luck could possibly be the center of an all-city World Series next October.

Both Boston representatives—the Red Sox and Braves—swept double headers from their Philadelphia rivals yesterday to change the pennant pictures. The Red Sox whipped the Athletics 2-1 and 5-1, and the Braves took the measure of the Phils 6-1 and 3-1.

The coup de grace engineered by the Red Sox placed Joe Cronin's hopefuls at the top of the American league, a full game in front of the New York Yankees. The Braves, still rebounding from a hitless afternoon against Brooklyn's Ed Head last Tuesday, are in third place after four straight victories. Only one game separates them from the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

A Long, Long Time

It's been exactly a dozen years since both Boston clubs finished together in the first division and never have they won the flag simultaneously. In fact, the Braves have enjoyed only one championship season, coming on to win in 1914 after most of the experts had reserved the cellar for them. So Boston fans are keeping their fingers crossed hoping that Mort Cooper can come up with another 20-game season and that the money which bought Johnny Hopp and Ray Sanders from the Cardinals holds out. As for the Red Sox, nothing less than a first place finish will satisfy the Hub fans.

Tex Hughson and Mickey Harris, who with Dave (Boo) Ferriss, are expected to carry the brunt of the Red Sox pitching, each picked up his third victory in stopping the A's yesterday. Hughson, whose triumph in the opener was his second over the Mackmen, gave up eight hits to outlast Luther Knerr. Harris limited the A's to seven hits in outdueling Bobo Newsom, who previously had blanked the Sox.

Hurling Is Good

The Braves also got some scintillating hurling. Big Mort Cooper, showing no ill effects from last year's sore arm, handcuffed Ben Chapman's crew with eight safeties in the opener and Young Johnny Sain gained his third straight triumph with a seven-hitter in the nightcap. The other end of the battery provided the winning margins in each game. Catcher Stu Hofferth's three-run triple iced the first game and catcher Phil Masi's single brought in the winning marker in the finale.

The Brooks and Cards, one-two in the senior circuit, each suffered a double reversal. The New York Giants supplied the knockout punch to their interborough rivals before 54,181 paying customers, and the Champion Chicago Cubs gave the Redbirds a thorough going over.

As might be expected, it was Goody Rosen, a Dodger hireling himself only last Friday, who packed the biggest wallop of all the Giants. His three singles in the first game and a three-run homer and one-bagger in the second were the big blows of the Giants' 7-3 and 10-4 decisions. Rosen shared honors with Hal Schumacher who made his first start since leaving for the Navy three years ago. Schumacher spaced seven hits in the opener to snap Brooklyn's eight-game winning streak.

Cubs Get Revenge

The Cubs got revenge for three previous defeats by the Redbirds by winning 9-7 and 3-1 before 31,699 fans. A single by Charlie Gelbert scored the winning marker for the Cubs in the 10th inning of the opener after Tommy Livingston's homer had tied the score in the ninth. In the nightcap, Lefty Johnny Schmitz was just too good for the Cards' Ken Burkhardt.

Knuckleballer Roger Wolff knocked the Yankees out of first place 3-1 with a well-pitched seven-hitter as teammate Stan Spence provided the winning margin with a double in the eighth that scored two runners. Allen Gettel, after two straight victories, was charged with the defeat.

The Tigers disappointed the largest crowd in Detroit's history — 57,149 paid admissions — by bowing to the Cleveland Indians 3-1 in 12 innings to sink deeper into third place. Red Embree, who held the Tigers to six hits and would have had a shutout but for Hank Greenberg's second home run of the season, won his own game when he doubled in two mates in the 12th.

Cincinnati's unpredictable Reds gained their fourth straight victory over Pittsburgh's Pirates 7-1 as Ed Heusser held the Bucs in check with seven safeties. Rookie Grady Hatton was the big gun with a homer, double and single and batted in four runs.

Aged Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox registered his 260th triumph, his first since his release from the U. S. Marines, by taming the St. Louis Browns 4-3 in the first game of a double header. The Browns, scoring nine unearned in the first frame, won the second contest 11-8, as the White Sox used 22 players including seven pitchers.

CARDINGTON NINE WINS MORROW CO. TOURNEY

Beats Johnsville 8-3 With Last Inning Rally.

Special to The Star

IBERIA—Cardington and Johnsville staged a battle royal for championship honors at the Cardington athletic field Saturday as the Cardington Pirates won with last inning rally 6 to 3. Rogers bested Brewer, who had pitched a one-hit game against Chesterville on Tuesday, in a pitcher's duel handicapped by cold weather. Rogers struck out 12 batters and Brewer fanned five before he was relieved by Donelson.

CARDS PUSH DETAILS FOR OPENING CEREMONY

Chandler and Lausche Slated To Hurl First Ball.

Plans for the Marion Cardinals' opening day ceremonies tomorrow are progressing. Word has been received that Baseball Commissioned A. B. "Happy" Chandler will arrive by automobile sometime during the afternoon.

The Governor's office said today that Gov. Lausche would drive to Marion, arriving at Lincoln Park a little before game time. Office personnel were uncertain how many would be in the Governor's party.

The gates at Lincoln Park will be opened at 5:30 p. m. There are no reserved seats except box seats. Officials estimated that approximately 5,000 will attend. Gov. Lausche and Chandler will be the battery for the first ball of the season at 8 p. m.

Marion, Delaware and Galion Keglers Booked

Teams and individuals from Marion and vicinity will take over the Inter-city bowling tournament this week. From Tuesday through Friday 32 doubles teams and 33 five man teams from Marion, Delaware, Galion and Lima are scheduled to bowl.

Doubles bowling will get underway at 9 p. m. Tuesday with the following lineup: Grover and Miller, Roush and Lewis, Pfeiffer and Weis, and Goodspeed and Hoffman—all of Marion; Farrand and Sheets, Thompson and Herriott, Ingle and Chapman, Andrews and Jolley, Bunnell and Karter, Schaffer and Rodenfels, Kissner and Tilton, and Schaffer and Garey—all of Delaware.

DeVilbiss, New London Win Wesleyan Relays

DELAWARE, O., April 29 — Toledo DeVilbiss and New London today held the Ohio Wesleyan Relays championships—and they also could be called the Eskimo champions of 1946.

Competing in frigid weather—at least for track — DeVilbiss copped the Class A championship and New London repeated in Class B here Saturday in the 15th annual running of the Wesleyan event.

Back in fourth place in Class A was Cleveland East Tech, the victor for the last two years. And even farther back in the field was Mansfield, the 1945 state champion.

Charges Filed Here in Bicycle Thefts

Charges of bicycle theft were filed by police in juvenile court today against two Marion boys and charges of having a stolen bicycle in his possession were filed against a third youth. No date for their hearing has been set, juvenile authorities said.

The boys were picked up by police Friday night and placed in the county detention home after two of them admitted taking bicycles and either selling them or giving them to friends. The boys are students of the Glenwood school, but the bicycles were taken from racks along West Center street and not from the school area, school officials said. Six of the bicycles have been recovered by police. Two of the youths were 13 years old and the third was 15.

Charges of assisting in the sale of a storage battery were filed today against two 17-year-old Marion youths who are in the detention home awaiting trial. The boys were picked up by police Saturday.

Marion Women at Columbus Meeting

A group of Catholic women, representing the Western deanery and the Marion Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, joined other deaneries and councils in the Columbus diocese at a meeting Sunday at St. Mary of the Springs, Columbus. More than 500 women attended the afternoon session held in Erskine hall.

Monsignor A. J. Murphy, Ph. D., of Cleveland, a member of the executive committee of the National Council of Catholic Charities, was the guest speaker. Greetings were extended by Mother Mary Stephanie, of the college. Completing the program was a talk by Bishop Michael J. Ready, head of the diocese, and also by Mrs. Anna Marie Cline, executive secretary and Mrs. Frank Vogel treasurer of the diocesan council.

Attending from Marion were Mrs. J. T. McNamara, head of the deanery council, who attended a board meeting preceding the general session, Mrs. H. H. Cooper, president of the Marion council, Mrs. A. J. Wagner, Mrs. Harold Monnette, Mrs. Ray Delninger, Mrs. T. J. Coffey, Miss Alice Caulfield, Mrs. George M. Schelb, Miss Joan Schelb, Mrs. William Simmone, Mrs. Albert Merkle, and Mrs. M. Gass.

A meeting of the councils in the deanery will be held here May 15.

LAUSCHE EYES POWER TO OUST OFFICIALS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—Apparently seeking means of putting pressure behind his campaign to smash alleged gambling law violations, Gov. Frank J. Lausche today announced he was studying past and present laws dealing with removal of local officials with an eye to a request for legislative action.

Lausche explained to newsmen that he now has power only to remove mayors, that the power of gubernatorial removal of sheriffs and prosecutors was taken away in the 1920s.

He said removal actions in the 1920s became so numerous the state legislature passed the Bender law, which left mayor removal power in the governor's hands but placed power of removal of sheriffs and prosecutors in local applications.

(Removal of sheriffs and prosecutors may be sought by a petition signed by 10 per cent of the registered voters and placed in the hands of common pleas court.)

"While the great, great majority of sheriffs are trying to do an honest job," the governor said, "there are some few who are absolutely indifferent."

He declared he had sent notice to Pike County Prosecutor M. J. Cofer and Sheriff Jesse H. Foster to investigate a report of slot machines at the Lake White club.

Gov. Lausche said he had asked the officials to investigate promptly and to report any action taken, adding a similar message had been sent Sept. 26, 1945, to Sheriff Foster. The governor said the sheriff replied slot machines alleged to have been in the Lake White club "were removed."

"Uncle Addie" Bain Is Honored on 89th Birth Anniversary

Following an annual custom Mr. and Mrs. Addison Bain entertained a group of relatives and friends in their home at 192 Wallace street, Sunday, in celebration of Mr. Bain's birthday anniversary. Mr. Bain, known to his wide circle of friends and acquaintances as "Uncle Addie," will observe his 89th birthday anniversary May 2.

Birthday cakes and flowers provided a decorative setting for the birthday dinner served from a large table and the guests were seated at small tables throughout the room. The invocation was spoken by William P. LaRue, brother-in-law of the celebrant. In the afternoon Mr. Bain showed relics and souvenirs, including the first cow and horse bells used in the county, and sketched briefly the early life and work of the founders of the county. The guests also visited his trophy room, which among other valuable articles, houses his interesting collection of more than 80 guns. Other entertainment in the afternoon included violin and guitar music by C. J. Tracht of Galion and Dean Batt of Bucyrus, selections on the zyther by Mrs. J. A. Koester of Toledo, vocal and whistling numbers by Mr. Batt, vocal solos by Mrs. Koester, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Sheldon Kramp of LaRue, and group singing.

Assisting the celebrant and Mrs. Bain were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don DeLong and son, Carl, and guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Tracht and Milton Miller of Galion, Mrs. Koester of Toledo, Miss Minnie Hoover of Delaware, Mrs. Jennie Wilson and George Wilson of Richwood, William E. LaRue, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Kramp, Marilyn and Sue Myers of LaRue, Mrs. Croft Bauer and Mrs. William Bain of New Bloomington, Mr. Batt of Bucyrus, Mr. and Mrs. James Bain, John H. Bain, Mrs. Agnes Bain, Miss Nettie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Hamilton, Mrs. Dora Hochstetler, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCurdy and daughter, Rebecca, Mrs. Mary DeLong, Miss Nellie Bain, Miss Clara Lippincott, Miss Edna Dutton and Roy Edgar Bain.

Mr. Bain, who is the son of pioneer residents of the western part of the county, for many years was head of the Toledo Newsboys' association. His interest in youth has won him a wide circle of friends and acquaintances among the younger generations, and with Mrs. Bain, who shares his interests, he was in charge of the county's detention home for children for many years. Keenly interested in outdoor life, he is fisherman, hunter and gardener.

Rev. Johnson Plans Series of Services

A new series of Wednesday night services has been announced by Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor of Central Christian church, to begin Wednesday of this week at 7:30 p. m. The purpose of the services is "to provide an opportunity for those who desire to grow in the Christian life; an opportunity beyond that which is provided at the Sunday services." Three fields of development will be stressed, spiritual, mental and service. Certain standards of discipline have been set up for all who desire to enroll in the group, regular attendance at church services, daily prayer, regular Bible study, make two calls a week, fast one meal a week and donate cost of meal to overseas food relief. According to Rev. Johnston, "Those who attend this class are in no sense boasting of a superior way of life; on the contrary, they are admitting their deep sense of need."

$25 Contribution Voted To Cancer Campaign

A contribution of $25 was made to the cancer prevention campaign and plans completed for the annual poppy day at a meeting of the woman's auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 102, American Legion Friday night at the Dugout. Mrs. Jewell Ralston is Poppy Day chairman and the annual sale will be held May 17 and 18. The meeting was preceded by a potluck dinner at 6:30 o'clock, and Mrs. Ruth Brown was in charge of a social hour.

Mrs. Geneva Dugan, president, presided for a business session when plans were completed for entertaining gold star mothers on May 8 at which time Mrs. Louella Brown of Kenton, department president, will be a guest speaker. Several new members were initiated and a report was given on the breakfast given by Mrs. Mary Orcutt and Mrs. Margaret Fitzsimmon, over WMRN yesterday afternoon in observance of the organization's welfare month. The history of the auxiliary's activities for 1945, prepared by Mrs. Gertrude Kinnear, historian, was read by Mrs. Florence Arndt.

McGrady and Paul W. Fuller sitting in.

Eichel made the announcement after a 90-minute conference this morning between Schwellenbach and Lewis and his negotiating committee.

The secretary met with the operators' negotiating committee yesterday. A representative said the producers had stood pat on their refusal to commit themselves in advance to a union-administered health and welfare fund, a point on which the negotiations foundered April 10. Lewis has declined to discuss wages until the point is settled.

Edward F. McGrady, former assistant secretary of labor and now a vice president of the Radio Corp of America, sat in as a special mediator with Lewis for the first time today. He and Paul W. Fuller, previously named a mediator, will represent Schwellenbach in the conferences.

Lewis had nothing to say to newsmen as he entered the walnut lined office of the secretary today. He posed with McGrady for pictures but quiet-humoredly declined to stand too close to the conciliator.

Bucyrus Getting Set for Gala Legion Rally

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 29—Elaborate city decorations and floats which will appear in a gala parade will be financed by a fund to which merchants and industrialists are contributing at the spring conference of the American Legion Fifth district and rally here May 5.

Three floats are assured and seven bands have indicated their intention of entering the parade. Merchants are sponsoring a "Miss Liberty" float and manufacturers a Red Cross float. A flag float will be sponsored jointly by the two. Posts from out of the city are also expected to enter floats.

More than 2,500 delegates are expected in the city for the day.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS LISTED

Work in Marion Area Included in State Program.

Several road and bridge improvement projects in the Marion county area are included in a state-wide postwar secondary road improvement program submitted to the federal public roads administration today.

The program proposes improvements on a bridge on state route 37 approximately one mile south of the Wyandot-Marion county line. Road improvements are also being proposed in Champaign, Knox, Allen and Richland counties.

Perry T. Ford, state highway director, said the program included 149 projects totaling 238 miles in 84 counties at an estimated cost of $9,786,857. The highway director predicted the public roads administration would approve the list by June 1 so bids could be asked immediately.

The projects are part of a 17,000 mile federal aid secondary road system going into each of the state's 88 counties, a condition necessary to participation by Ohio in the $300,000,0000 post-war highway program developed by FRA.

Projects on the state highways by counties included the following within the Marion area:

[illegible]

Knox: SR-13; 6.72 mile from Utica southerly thru the city [illegible] new high type pavement. Also projects for highway [illegible] improvements off the state highway system include:

Allen: Routes 309 and 225; 8.81 mile E and 2.3 miles north of Harrod and 10 miles west of Harrod; bridge and two culverts.

Route 194; 6.81 mile 8.5 mile west and 4.4 mile east of SR-81; two new culverts.

Route 225; 6.81 mile at locations 1.5, 2.5 and 3.8 miles north of SR-81; rebuild one bridge and two culverts, approaches by county.

Knox: Route 13; 9.83 mile 9.4 miles west of Danville; new bridge and grade approaches, pavement by county.

Route 37; 21 mile 8.8 mile east of SR-314; new bridge and grade approaches, pavement by county.

Richland: Route 314; 9.886 mile 1.3 miles south of SR-178; new bridge and rock-land modern type approaches.

LONG BULL MARKET ENTERS NEW PHASE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 29—The third longest bull market in history entered its fifth year today with individual stocks exhibiting strength while many leaders turned in a lusterless performance.

From the start dealings were slack and irregularly lower tendencies ruled near the fourth hour.

Selling again was based on apprehension over the coal strike and other walkouts.

Isolated climbers included M-K-T preferred, Distillers Corp. National Distillers and Baldwin Locomotive. The last named opened up 1¾ points at 32¾ on a 2,500-share block. Retreats were U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Standard Oil (Ind.), Texas Co., Kennecott, Consolidated Edison, Union Carbide and J. C. Penney.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I MENTALLY swept a plumed chapeau low to the ground before Mary and Olina. But of course my more elaborate gesture of homage went to my husband's winsome niece.

For, by her really brilliant histrionism, and by her quick action in seizing the reins of the difficult situation, she not only had averted the danger of a temperamental explosion from her husband, as well as from her young brother, but had given Olina the opportunity to retire gracefully from an action which I knew the high-minded, but temporarily distraught, girl would have keenly regretted for the rest of her life.

To Noel, Too

I felt that my hat should be off to Noel, also, for his part in the performance. How Mary had won him over, I could not imagine—I marveled at her daring to tell him what Olina was contemplating, and what she, herself, had planned to thwart his royal step-sister—but I was comfortably sure that Mary would tell me everything about it as soon as she could see me alone.

Whatever it was that she had told him, Mary's husband certainly had "played up" in wonderful fashion, and another covert glance at his serene face told me that nothing was to be feared from him.

Shifted Attention

I shifted my attention to Roderick, about whose reaction to the attempted slight upon his sister I had been worrying. But a glimpse at him showed me that he had no idea anything had been amiss.

His face was glowing with the excitement natural to the dramatic occasion, and Junior's boyish countenance reflected the high spirits of his cousin.

But, in my young son's eyes, as they met mine for an instant, there was relief, as well as unstinted admiration of his cousin Mary, and I thrilled, as I always do, to his boyish sweetness, and felt amply rewarded for confiding in him the secret of what Olina had planned.

I knew that all of the luncheon guests were listening, avidly for Olina's reply to Mary's question, but it was Philip Veritzen, who, with a step forward and an authoritative nuance in his voice, took complete charge of the situation.

Will Give Answer

"I, myself, will give the answer to that question a little later, my dear daughter," he said, with a formality which, my knowledge of his moods and tenses, told me, covered annoyance.

"You see," he went on, "your impetuosity has almost forestalled a little ceremony which we had planned."

For a startled instant, my eyes, as well as those of the other luncheon guests, searched the room. The fantastic idea that Georges might be concealed behind some drapery, ready to step out and take part in a wedding ceremony, motivated my glance, as I knew it did those from every other pair of eyes in the room.

Then common sense, as well as memory, told me that Philip Veritzen uses the word "ceremony" for actions almost as simple as that of shaking hands, and I leaned back in my chair, relieved on one score but troubled on another.

I know, none better, how childishly disappointed he is when even the slightest plan of his goes awry, and I was afraid that he was seriously annoyed at Mary for spoiling his ceremonial betrothal announcement at the coming luncheon.

That Olga had told him nothing beyond the bare fact of the engagement, I was sure, and, with the many important calls upon his attention, I was also sure that, until Mary brought it into the open, he had not recognized Olina's wearing of the betrothal ring as the challenge to Mary which the rest of us had seen.

He knew it now, however, and I worried as to the use he might make of his knowledge. But there was only his usual elaborate courtesy in his voice as he turned to his wife.

"Is luncheon ready?" he asked. "May we go in now?"

KENTON MAN DIES OF CRASH INJURIES

Special to The Star

KENTON, April 29—Raymond E. Basil, 29, of Kenton died at 12 11 a. m. Sunday in the Mary Rutan hospital in Bellefontaine, of injuries suffered early Wednesday morning when a motorcycle ridden by him and a companion, Dale Conover of Kenton, went out of control near Indian Lake and crashed into a tree. Mr. Conover is reported to be in very serious condition in the Bellefontaine hospital.

He was born Aug 24, 1916 in Kenton to S G. Basil and Nancy Basil. The father resides in Grant, O, and the mother in Kenton. He served four years with the Army Air Forces and was discharged only five weeks ago. Thirty months of his service was in England and two months in Germany. Except for his time in the service, Basil lived all his life in Kenton.

Surviving with his parents are two sisters, Miss Thelma Basil of Kenton, Mrs Charles Rusch of Fostoria, and four brothers, Lendle of Belle Center, Woodrow of Columbus, and Elmo and Allen of Kenton.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p m in the Schindler funeral home in Kenton by Rev. Eugene Eakin of Findlay. Burial will be in Grove cemetery.

NEARLY 1,400 ENROLL FOR CONCERT SERIES

Committee Makes Report on Campaign for Members.

The 1946-47 membership campaign conducted last week by the Marion Community Concert association ended Saturday night with approximately 1,400 members enrolled for the coming season

Accounted for by the workers at the close of the week's campaign were 1,389 memberships. Reports made by telephone by a few workers unable to turn in their reports by closing time, and others mailed Saturday will bring the membership to 1,400 the committee expects

Members of the committee are more than gratified with the response to the drive, they stated today, and selection of artists for the forthcoming series of three programs will be made in the near future The campaign, which is the second sponsored by the concert association tops last year's membership enrollment by more than 400.

FAMILY OF 12 MADE HOMELESS BY FIRE

Farm Residence Burns Near Crawford, North of Carey.

Special to The Star

CAREY April 29—A family of 12 was left homeless by a fire which destroyed their home on the Ralph Harford farm one mile north of Crawford early Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs Ernest Risner and their ten children, the youngest one 17 months old, were driven from their home at 4 a m. when one of the sons was awakened by the blaze and aroused other members of the household. All escaped without injury

The house was destroyed and only a small amount of living room furniture was recovered. The Carey fire department was called and saved the barn and other surrounding buildings. The property was covered by insurance The Risner family has lived on the Harford farm for approximately 18 months The fire was believed to have started from defective wiring

RAIL UNIONS MEET WITH ROADS TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 29—Officials of two railroad unions will meet here today with railroad management representatives to review the findings of President Truman's emergency fact-finding board in their dispute

The two unions, the brotherhoods of Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers, have announced their dissatisfaction with the board's recommendations and have set May 18 as a strike date

The only apparent means of averting the walkout appeared to be appointment of a second fact-finding board, or government seizure of the roads A presidential request for settlement of the dispute, backed up by public opinion, might be considered urgent enough by the unions to result in their calling off the walkout

The unions are seeking a $2 70 daily wage increase, plus at least 44 changes in the rules which govern their working conditions

Marion County Soldier Visits German Town Left by His Grandfather 66 Years Ago

By ARTHUR R. MYERS

... Ludwig Risch, a farmer of near Morral, left his native ... Zuzenhausen in Germany 66 years ago it is not likely ... ed that one of his family, two generations later, would ... e Baden province village of his birth as a member of ... ng army.

... that event came about when Bernard Brooks, Risch's ... by marriage and a member of a U. S. 7th Army field ... unit, made a pilgrimage to the home of his grandfather, ... house in which he lived ... with many of his ... and their descendants ... who was discharged ... army April 13th at Camp ..., Ind., was stationedd in ... German town called ... on the Rhine-Necar ... about 20 miles from Heid... at the time. When his ... revealed his location to ... lives here, they wrote ... Mr. Risch's native village ... about eight miles away ... Sunday he procured a ... drove over to Zuzen... ... person he contacted there was the burgomeister. It developed that the home of the burgomeister was the very house Mr. Risch had left in 1880. The burgomeister remembered Mr. Risch, who was about 19 at the time he left with his mother and sister, and said that Mr. Risch's mother had sold the house to his mother. He took Brooks about the village, introducing him to several members of the Risch family and to other people whose ancestors had left the town and had settled in Marion and other parts of Ohio. Brooks said he does not recall any of their names individually but remembers the family names of Grau and Mann. He remembers meeting his grandfather's brother, George Risch and a woman who knew his grandfather.

The burgomeister showed Brooks a book giving the names of all persons who had left town to go to America. There were many Ohioans among them. In addition to the name of Risch some people by the name of Wurth were shown as living in Marion. Brooks believes this to be an error, however, since Mr. Risch's mother's maiden name was Wurth and he knows of no other family by that name here. There were many Cleveland and Logan county people listed.

Knew a Little German

Risch made himself understood through what he calls "pidgin" German, which he picked up while in Germany. However, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Starner, daughter of Ludwig Risch, says that since he has returned she has heard more German, especially idiomatic phrases, than since she was a child and heard her parents speaking the language.

Brooks spent Sunday morning in Zuzenhausen and then returned to his station. He intended to revisit the town but was transferred shortly afterward and did not get the chance to return. Zuzenhausen was only slightly bombed, Brooks said. The only military targets there are the railroad station and an autobahn or military highway that runs nearby.

Brooks' impression of the German people was that they were stunned from the loss of the war. They were working feverishly at the time to get in crops so they could survive the winter. The older people seemed genuinely anti-Nazi, Brooks said, although they had been forced to join a Nazi sponsored work party, and it was not unusual for them to point out Nazis to the American authorities. Most of the trouble came from the younger element which had been indoctrinated with the Nazi theories, and Brooks believes our policing and educational task in Germany will be a long and very necessary one.

The burgomeister gave a picture of his house to Brooks. Brooks describes the house as a typical German farm house, with the barn connected on the rear and the traditional manure pile in front. Brooks says the wealth of a German farmer can be accurately appraised by the size of his manure pile since that is an indication of how much stock he owns. A farmer there is considered wealthy if he owns two cows and three pigs.

Brooks said, and farming is done on a much smaller scale than Americans are accustomed to. A German farm community is different from the American in that the farmers live in villages and go to their fields outside of town rather than living on the farms as Americans do. They usually own their own land, Brooks said, although sometimes the land is worked cooperatively. Modern farm machinery is very rare there, he said, and there would not be enough gasoline and oil available to run it if they did have it. The retreating German army took most of the farmers' horses so they were in worse straits than usual when Brooks made his visit. Plumbing and sanitary conditions were inadequate there, and there were few modern household conveniences.

Failed To Reach England

Brooks wanted to get to England to visit his father's relations, but he did not get the chance. He was sent to the American army university at Biarritz in the south of France, where he took courses in advertising and salesmanship. He was later transferred to the university service company, where he acted as a battalion first sergeant before leaving for the United States.

Brooks entered the Army in August, 1943, and went overseas Jan. 5, 1945. He was an artillery crewman and cook with the 561st Field Artillery Battalion of the 63rd Division and went with General Patch's Seventh Army through the Saar Valley to Munich.

He is a graduate of Marion Business College and worked at the Osgood Co. before entering the army. He has returned there since his discharge and is employed in the printing and publicity department.

Brooks is the husband of Rosina Starner, granddaughter of Ludwig Risch. They are making their home at present at the Risch farm near Morral. William Risch, Marion county commissioner, is a son of Ludwig Risch.

WSCS RALLY IN OHIO

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 29 — Some 1,500 church leaders from 14 countries will convene here tomorrow in the second national assembly of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Missionaries and delegates from all parts of the world will present reports of rehabilitation problems existing in their countries.

Prostate Gland Trouble?

I'm a railroad man and for over 8 years had difficulty working because of backaches due to Prostate Gland trouble. Doctor's formula proved of great benefit and before and since his death have sold them (now called Watt's Suppositories) to railroad men and others the country over. Fine testimonials and repeat business show the good work they do. Backache, getting up nights, often indicate an inflamed Prostate Gland. I guarantee your money back if not given relief. One dozen Watt's Suppositories $1.25, 2½ dozen for $2.50. Sold at Henney & Cooper Drug Store.—Adv.

an EXTRA HAND for spring planting

Years ago the farmer discovered that at spring planting time the use of a telephone is almost like having an extra hired hand. The farmer knows that during his hectic spring planting days his telephone saves him priceless hours in town buying supplies and equipment. That is why a telephone is part of the future plans of most progressive farmers. That, too, is why our future plans include modern rural telephone service for every farmer who desires it.

Hints on How To Save Food for Starving

WASHINGTON, April 29 — ...re a starving family on your ... Will you turn them away?

There are the hungry millions of ... China, India. Their food ... from every American ... surely as if they knocked ... door and asked.

You want to feed them but don't ... how? The bureau of home ... of the agriculture department says these are some of the ways:

Hungry families in Europe need ... Starving thousands in ... need rice. Americans who ... potatoes can give them both. ... mashed potatoes instead of ... Try poached eggs baked ... of mashed potato.

Ask for potato salad instead of ... with.

Stuff meat or poultry with potatoes instead of bread. Try mashed potatoes instead of pastry ... meat pies and other baked ...

At breakfast, serve potatoes occasionally instead of wheat cereal or cereals. One small serving of potato is equal in food value to a slice of bread.

Use these leftovers. Mashed potatoes make potato cakes, boiled potatoes can be turned into hash-brown or creamed potatoes.

In making pancakes, replace a large part if the flour with fresh, grated potato. Let mashed potatoes do duty for some of the flour in making hot potato scones and rolls.

Use potatoes in place of rice, whenever possible.

Don't throw rice at weddings. You may be tossing away a starving child's dinner.

Lymph Glands

The lymph glands of your body perform much the same function as the oil filter in your car, for the latter filters out dirt, and the former filters out germs and infection.

It is not surprising that, where infection is frequent or of long duration, the filters themselves should become clogged with these toxic materials. When they do, they reverse their role and instead of affording protection, become a source of danger.

Now, one of the greatest of these filtering stations is in the throat. It consists of the tonsils and other lymphoid glands there.

Repeated infections of the nose and throat cause these lymphoid glands to work overtime and in the process they increase in size. Then an excessive amount of mucus is formed in the throat which blocks breathing and the opening of the eustachian tubes which lead from the throat to the middle ear.

When in this condition, according to Doctor Gilbert E. Fisher of Birmingham, Alabama, these tissues become very nests of infections, infections which may spread to the sinuses in the nose, the eyes, the larynx or voice-box, the windpipe and bronchi, or the small air passages in the lungs.

Furthermore, Dr. Fisher thinks this also lowers the child's resistance to infections. In older children, a condition known as granular pharyngitis may develop in which the throat is reddened, the lymphoid tissue swollen, and coughing occurs frequently.

This glanular pharyngitis may develop into recurrent sore throat, a condition which is seen in adults. Also, a chronic or long-continued obstruction of the eustachian tubes might develop, leading to a form of deafness which is quite common.

Because of these facts, Dr. Fisher believes that it is important to treat the lymphoid tissue in the throat and back part of the nose with radium. The radium treatment will cause the lymphoid tissue to waste and disappear. The treatment is not difficult to carry out.

During the first week following treatment, there may be a slight sensation of soreness in the nose and throat, together with an increase in the amount of discharge from the back part of the nose into the throat.

Gradually this discharge clears up and 30 days after treatment little, if any, discharge occurs. Examination of the nose and throat six weeks after treatment usually shows that the lymphoid tissue has definitely decreased in size, and the mucous discharge has decreased in amount.

This method of treatment has been found to give good results particularly in children in cases of deafness in which there is blocking of the eustachian tubes and in persons who have infections of the nose and throat.

Ohio Theaters Collect $330,647 in Drive

Ohio theaters collected $330,647.21 in the 1946 motion picture "March of Dimes" drive, it has been announced by P. J. Wood, secretary of the Independent Theater Owners of Ohio and state chairman for the drive. This figure compares with $316,246.23 collected in 1945.

Checks for their fifty per cent of collections have been mailed to county infantile paralysis committee by Wood's office. Remainder of the collections goes to the National Foundation for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis.

Collections for counties in this area were announced as follows: Marion $1,664.55; Crawford $1,174.81; Delaware $573.41; Hardin $513.20; Morrow $76; Union $222.92; and Wyandot $412.45.

THE SCHOOL BOND ISSUE Provides for REBUILDING SILVER STREET SCHOOL

Silver Street building is one of Marion's oldest buildings. It has served one of the most important sections of our city well for years.

It is due for a change. It was first thought advisable to raze this building and build an entirely new one. After a thorough checkup was made, by competent architects and builders, it was found that the roof, walls and foundations were as solid as the day they were built.

Under such circumstances it would prove to be a waste of taxpayers' money not to use such parts of the building as are sound. By doing this the students will be denied no features they would have in a brand new building.

It was therefore decided to completely rehabilitate Silver Street building so that when it is completed it will offer every advantage of a brand new building.

Such a solution should be in accord not only with those served by this school but with the residents of every section of Marion.

HERE THEN IS THE PROGRAM FOR SILVER STREET SCHOOL:

A new community room will be constructed at Silver with a seating capacity of 250 persons. This addition plus those at Olney and Oak Street schools will provide a community room at every elementary school in the city.

The remodeling includes the following items: improved toilet facilities and lavatories; laying of new floors in all classrooms and corridors; removal of present windows; enlargement of the openings, installation of supporting beams and installation of metal sash and new windows (this will provide for a much greater light area in each room); construction of interior steel stairway exits from each class room now serviced by exterior exits; removal of present wood stairways and replacement thereof with steel stairways; new electric wiring service and fixtures throughout the building; removal of the present heating system and the installation of a modern one; new wainscoting throughout the building; sandblasting of exterior walls and pointing up thereof; and complete redecorating of the building. After this work is done the building will look like a new one and have all of the advantages for the students that a new modern building would have.

Fact-Finding

THE looming threat of a strike by key operating employes of the nation's railroads follows another strike and threats of strikes in major industries have followed the efforts of a fact-finding board.

In this instance the board had been established under the railway federation act. Known as an emergency board of inquiry, it is the first step in the elaborate procedure set up under the act to avert railroad strikes. Its recommendations were wholly unacceptable to the policy-making heads of the Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and of Locomotive Engineers. Whether or not they also were unacceptable to railroad operators is problematic; the operators seemingly were not given any chance to refuse them.

Fact-finding as a kind of last hope for doing something about strikes is wilted and battered. When seasoned trainmen, with long experience under the Railway Mediation Act's procedural steps for averting strikes, become as contemptuous of fact-finding as any bumptious, inexperienced and badly-disciplined group of Wagner Act freshmen, a so-called fact is worth no more than another prejudiced opinion.

By hindsight—all the way back to 1926 when the railway mediation act was passed, as a matter of fact—it seems pretty plain now that facts never did have much bearing on the outcome of labor disputes. In the first place, facts are treacherously variable: they depend on what the fact-finder is looking for. In the second place, all facts adduced in a labor dispute must yield eventually to one of two facts that supersede all others. They are: (1) the union's determination to get more money or (2) the employer's determination not to pay it. Anything else ceases to be collective bargaining.

Russia's Right To Be Skeptical

THE Russian position in the United Nations security council's consideration of the Spanish question is logical.

Russia opposes an investigation by a subcommittee because it already has made up its mind about the Franco regime and has all the facts it wants. If other governments are not equally convinced that Franco should be ousted at any cost and a Spanish government friendly to the Russian point of view substituted, that is not because of any lack of evidence about the dictator's politics and policies but because of lack of sympathy for the Russian point of view.

Moreover, Russia's right to be skeptical about subcommittees organized to conduct investigations is beyond challenge. Investigating committees and fact-finding commissions are one of the oldest dodges of parliamentary procedure. Usually, they are the equivalent of an admission by the body which authorizes them that nothing is going to be done and therefore an investigation is called for to conceal that fact. There is always the possibility that something will turn up to eliminate the problem in the meantime.

Russia apparently is in a minority on the Spanish issue and will have to comply with the majority's decision to stall off a decision as long as possible with an investigation. Its right to be skeptical of the outcome, however, is uncontested. All the other governments concerned are skeptical, too, but their skepticism includes Russia's reason for wanting a change of government in Spain.

Wage Rate Blackmail

A THREAT by James B. Carey, secretary of the CIO, that union labor will precipitate more strikes if OPA is not continued in its existing form, has had its teeth pulled by abundant evidence that unions stand prepared to strike whenever they choose. United Auto Workers already has begun to talk about going on strike again, regardless of its new contracts.

The strikes that already have occurred—while OPA was in existence—the strikes now in progress and the strikes planned cannot be blamed on any interference with price control legislation. If OPA were continued past next June, with no change in its provisions, that would be no better guarantee against work stoppages than it has been since the end of the war.

The wage rate blackmail which Mr. Carey has described in testimony before the senate banking committee is already in effect. Every strike that has been called has been rationalized by the increase in prices that has taken place under a law to control prices which CIO says must be continued in effect without change, on pain of more strikes. In short, if OPA is kept in effect after next June with no change there will be strikes because the cost of living will go up. If it is not kept in effect, or if it is altered, there will be strikes because the cost of living will go up. It's six of one, half a dozen of the other. Heads we strike, tails we have a walkout.

The Coalition Comes, Goes

By JACK STINNETT

Anti-Administration Line-Up Changeable

JUST what is the situation in Congress? Is the coalition against President Truman and his administration on the trouble? How does it stand? Who is in it?

Writers refer to "conservative Republican and conservative southern Democrats." But it is impossible to draw a hard and fast line on either group. For one thing, the legislation being considered alters rapidly.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, for example, has a record for toeing the party line as a Republican, but during the war years he emerged as an outstanding leader in favor of the administration's foreign policy.

Senator Taft of Ohio is almost a constant thorn in the side of the administration. He is a recognized leader of the conservative "Old Guard." But his housing program report was more "liberal" than even left-wing Democrats hoped to get passed.

Still on many domestic issues, there seem are leaders of "the coalition."

Behind the scenes for weeks there has been a whittling down of the administration-approved budget. In the House of Representatives, the whittlers include such Democrats as Representatives Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina and Eugene Cox of Georgia, and on the Republican side Representatives Charles Halleck of Indiana, Harold Knutson, of Minnesota and Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts.

But the real leader of the movement is Democratic Senator Byrd of Virginia. Economy-bent members of both parties have rallied to his banner. The group certainly is a coalition, but it hasn't any more claim to the title "the coalition" than several others.

When it comes to matters agricultural, Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Thomas of Oklahoma often is in the forefront and far from always on the side of legislation approved by the administration. It was under his leadership that the party price amendment to include increases in farm labor costs was tacked on to the administration's minimum wage law.

What is happening is that now that the war is over, and the necessity for singleness of purpose in our legislation not so apparent, Congress is falling back into the pattern of economic and social divisions. Whether the members of those divisions are Democrats or Republicans is no matter at all so long as they feel they are carrying out the wishes of their constituents.

Leadership of these divisions changes with almost every piece of legislation. So does the lineup of Republicans and Democrats.

Always, when administration-favored legislation is beaten down, it's referred to as the work of "the coalition." Except for those very rare divisions along strict party lines, it would be just as reasonable to say "A Senate (or House) coalition passed President Truman's recommended bill."

This Is Nothing To Shout About

This is National Noise Abatement Week.

Sshhhhh.

It will be observed throughout the nation except by congress which will continue to meet as usual.

Congress has become increasingly noisy of late. In fact it's getting so that some congressmen are having to do their sleeping at home.

But for congress, of course, things would be so quiet in Washington one could hear only such subdued sounds as OPA slowly strangling to death and John L. Lewis softly snickering up his sleeve.

Everything is quiet in New York, too, except when the word is wrong. Then one can hear Lippy Leo Durocher over in Brooklyn.

Most people will welcome the streets of noise. One hopes, however, the week will not bring a revival of last year's song hit "Milkman, Keep Those Bottles Quiet."

Incidentally, so far as I have been able to determine, it is merely coincidence that National Noise Abatement Week so closely follows National Eat More Soup Week.

Veterans Tackle Problems

In Louisville They Launch Cooperative Housing Project

A NATIONAL pattern for solution of veterans' problems was set by cooperative action of a Louisville, Ky., group recently as other moves by and for veterans had found Massachusetts considering a proposal to pay a state bonus of $1,000 and the national commander of the Amvets openly denouncing the bonus system.

An organization known as the Veterans Co-operative Association had taken its own housing problem in hand in Louisville and recently completed plans for the first four houses to be built on a 34-acre site. The group of 32 veterans had agreed to contribute $500 each to the project and build houses at a cost of $5,000 each.

Building was temporarily held up, the organization announced, because the members were seeking at least one construction supervisor and several brick masons and plasters for an ultimate membership of 50.

Call for $1,000 Bonus

In Massachusetts, crowds of veterans threatened retaliation against the state's legislators at the polls if they failed to back a move for payment of a $1,000 bonus to each veteran. The Legislature's Committee on Military Affairs went into executive session, following the veterans' demands for immediate action. The committee acted after a wild hearing during which the veterans cheered those in favor of the bill and jeered its opponents.

Those concerned with the bill indicated that if it is adopted, Massachusetts will probably lead the nation in the amount granted to the individual veteran from a state source. It is currently planned that the bill be financed through a state lottery.

Meanwhile, in Baltimore, Jack Hardy, national commander of the Amvets, expressed himself as opposed to payment of veterans' bonuses and declared that the veterans have a bigger job to do at home than they did abroad because they are faced with the problem of restoring "a damned sick country." He added that this was not the time to be thinking of "grabbing while the grabbing was good." Veterans, he said, should concentrate on getting jobs for everyone.

"Crack Down" Job

It is the veteran's problem, he continued, to crack down on labor and management and make them quit the bickering that is holding up matters. We must crack down on builders who hold out for the highest dime they can squeeze out and won't build until they get it."

Hardy's speech to the Baltimore post of the Amvets, had followed a discussion of Maryland veterans on a proposal to campaign for state bonus legislation. The group voted a committee to study the proposal.

Kansas City, meanwhile, had announced the opening of a new school for the training of veterans as gasoline service station operators. The courses last on an average of two weeks and are sponsored by a leading oil company.

In San Francisco, officials concentrated on a program aimed at providing housing facilities for 2,000 veterans as Mayor Lapham pledged full support to the project. The city moved for both state and federal financial aid in furthering the program.

So They Say—

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, European theater commander—"The ordinary German has been cast adrift politically, spiritually, and intellectually by recent political history. To date there is little evidence to indicate that most Germans have yet acquired a basic understanding of democracy."

Rep. Forest A. Harness, Rep., Indiana—"With a $400 increase, the Army and the Navy will get enough volunteers so continued drafting will not be required."

Sen. Homer Ferguson, Rep., of Michigan—"It's my opinion, that we are not ready to place full control of atomic energy in an international organization until we can be assured that such an organization will control it at all times for peaceful uses."

Glenn Seaborg, codiscoverer of plutonium—"Carbon 14, a radioactive substance developed through atomic research, may be just what is needed to aid mankind in synthesizing food and fuel at will."

Coast of Ireland Slipping Into Sea

By The Associated Press

DUBLIN — The sea is eating away the southeast coast of Ireland and the encroachment was noticeably accelerated by last winter's gales.

From Rosslare Harbor, Wexford, come reports of whole sections of cliffs and sand dunes collapsing in the tides, and fields slipping into the sea at an "alarming rate." A drive along 100 miles of coast from Bray Head, Wicklow, to Carnsore Point, Wexford, reveals this scene:

At Rosslare the cliff road has almost entirely disappeared, the golf links have suffered and the public reservoir is threatened. At Hayesland the sea is within 200 yards of the main Rosslare-Dublin railroad, whereas 30 years ago the line was nearly half a mile from the cliff at this point.

The villages of Curracloe, Blackwater, Ballyconigar and Courtown have suffered damage and a few scattered stones, visible only at low tide, are all that remain of the village of Fort, at the entrance to Wexford Harbor.

Attempts to check the erosion by placing piles and groynes along the beaches and by sowing rice grass have been unsuccessful.

Parking No. 1 Big City Problem

Rotary Circles, Underground Garages Among Solutions

ONE of the big headaches of cities throughout the country is the providing of parking space for motorists, it was revealed recently in a canvass of municipal traffic departments by Business Week magazine.

To ease the parking situation, cities have created one-way streets, rotary traffic circles, installed parking meters, set up time restrictions, and even banned parking entirely. But the problem persists, many of them reported. As municipal forces continued giving attention to the provisions of adequate space.

Experts generally conceded that some form of off-street storage is the only solution to the problem. In the past, there has been a lack of such facilities because of high land costs, the opposition of merchants, and laws prohibiting cities from going into the garage business.

Now, with the cooperation of business interests and state legislatures cities are working to eliminate these obstacles. More than 200 communities now own and operate congested-area parking lots paid for by long-term assessments upon benefited property.

Plans At Portland

Portland, Ore., is studying proposals for underground garages in some of its parks—a plan already used on a small scale by San Francisco merchants. Portland is also planning to extend meter coverage on its narrow streets. Since 1938 more than 2,000 meters have increased traffic turnover by 50 per cent.

Merchants in St. Louis have offered to cooperate with local officials in erecting downtown parking garages. The Missouri legislature must first pass an act permitting the city to engage in this project. Ordinances may be recommended making it mandatory for all new construction to include storage space for autos.

In Chicago there are only about 10,000 off-street parking spaces in the central area where it is estimated that 50,000 will be needed within 10 years. The City Plan Commission has recommended a system of parking terminals near express routes at convenient points along the rapid transit system, to encourage as much traffic as possible from entering downtown areas.

A Vehicle Parking Agency in Washington, D. C., is investigating that city's acute parking problem. There are several commercially operated, open-deck structures in the capital for multiple parking but more are needed. One large Washington store has opened a tier-parking structure for its patrons with cars reaching the upper decks by a series of ramps.

Philly's Program

Philadelphia has well advanced plans for construction of two or three submerged parking areas for 4,000 cars. The situation had been so bad in that city that on Jan. 2 almost all parking was prohibited in the central area.

New York has no definite plans for off-street parking, but present garage space is at a premium in the congested areas. Despite its lack of street space for parking, the city's problem is somewhat lessened by the fact that 80 per cent of travel in it is by public utility.

On the other hand, Hartford, Conn., has only 20 per cent of intown travel by public carrier. The city is planning a $4,000,000 parking plaza for 3,500 cars.

A situation favored by most larger cities is the construction of underground storage facilities. Detroit and San Francisco have voted to build 1,000-car garages under city parks, with costs to be met by parking fees. Boston may carry out a similar plan under its famous Common.

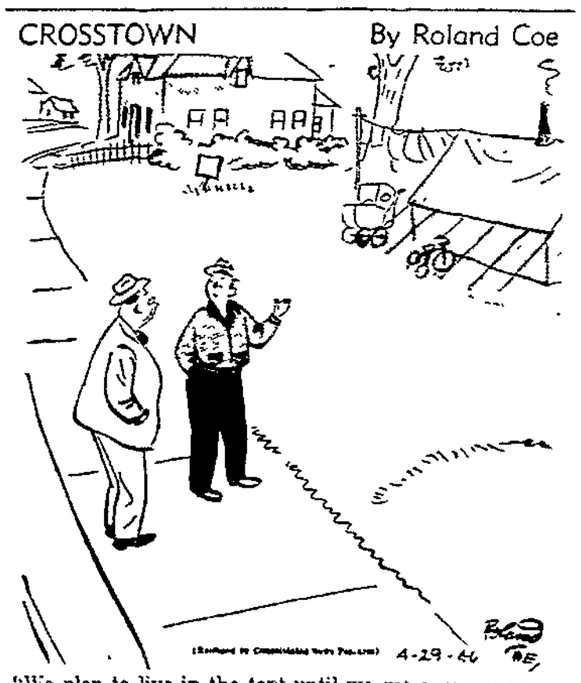
Mystery Gift

BOSTON—When City Treasurer Henry F. Brennan opened a letter addressed to his department recently he looked at the contents, blinked, shook his head and checked again to be sure he wasn't seeing things. He was seeing green things: four brand-new hundred dollar bills wrapped in clippings of old newspapers.

Unable to find any clue to the sender, Brennan notified Mayor Curley and then had the money placed in the city's Conscience Fund. He explained that the fund receives its contributions from people who are bothered by debts they owe the city.

Daily Bible Thought

It takes a good deal of a man to meet these specifications. "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God" —Micah 6:8.



"We plan to live in the tent until we get a garage up, in the garage until the cellar is dug — and in the cellar indefinitely!"

Legs and Inflation

MILADY'S legs have a bearing on inflation, prosperity and economics. These "limbs" it seems, are definitely related to the rate of the upturn.

• • •

By being a little chintzy on clothes a girl may be helping America over the crest and usher in a more stable economic order. The less material she wears the more she may be lessening the chance of the President, his Cabinet, OPA, the Democratic National Committee and perhaps the Big Three.

• • •

All of which is apparent from the news that the subject of one inch more or less of the feminine knee has been causing muddles and debates in Washington. Whether or not to lengthen skirts has been agitating the Civilian Price Control Administration and its advisory committees no end.

• • •

It is a question that has to be settled. Knees cannot be picked under, frozen at 1940 level, left to UN or handed over to Henry Wallace. (Or can it?)

• • •

The advisory committees have suggested that fashion permit skirts to be an inch longer, but OPA has been extra cautious. Even a single inch more of leg may mean millions of yards of short material. Hence the committee sessions, administration conferences, policy makers' confabs and trade debates among national associations, Congressmen, etc.

• • •

President Truman's "Hold the Line" order may be taken as applying to the knees of American womanhood. Harry has not personally made any public announcement on knees or knee-lengths. But unofficially he is said to believe them a good thing for the nation's morale.

• • •

But there are what they figure in OPA circles as inflation problems, and that OPA and OP are in fact right in milady's boudoir, and in Chet Bowles' mind is the legs of our women definitely involved in the war to stop runaway inflation comes as news to most people.

• • •

We have just seen some pre-views of the 1946 bathing garbings and our present impression is that the bathing girls very positively have Chester is right and are going all out for it.

• • •

The United States Agricultural Department's Bureau of Marketing and Transportation Research (what are they doing in this galaxy?) incidentally reports that the length of skirts is a barometer for depressions and prosperity. Proceeding along this line:

Full length skirts. Hard times.

Two inches above ankles. Things picking up.

Four inches above. Carloadings improve. Bankruptcies decline.

Six inches. Stock market rallies.

Eight inches. Splitups and extra dividends. Republicans see chance to get back into power.

Ten inches. Bernard Baruch suspends pending deliberations.

Up to knee. Dangerous boom. Golf club membership rise to $2,500 a head. War clouds in Europe.

One inch above knee. War. Reconversion. Inflation.

Wrong Number

By TRUMAN TWILL

There is no extra charge for the wrong numbers. The telephone people throw them in free.

Wrong numbers give the customers a chance to get acquainted with more people, also with special classes. What the telephone company should do is reshuffle its right numbers more often so more wrong numbers could be shared. It can have the Twillery number back any time it asks for it.

Our current wrong number mixup is with a real estate agency run by an early bird who tells its clients to get in touch with him before breakfast. An echo after the crack of dawn, the callers start calling for the head man. Depending how we feel about being rung out of bed prematurely we buy and sell houses and newspaper profit at last accounting of three-quarters of a million. During the daytime, the lady of the house, with more important things on mind, merely tells the callers the agency has gone to lunch. Chowderheads who transpose digits in telephone numbers don't deserve the truth. We don't know what the real estate agent tells the people who think they are calling the Twillery, but we'll bet it isn't the truth.

We used to be wrong-numbered by a man with a whining voice who wanted to speak to Agnes, poor gal, also by an old lady who always called her sister at 9:30 p. m. sharp, also by a character in the wholesale grocery business who wanted to discuss job lots, overnight delivery and re-labeling, usually after we had gone to bed. I was under the impression he was talking to a customer. The customer, no doubt, had our number to contend with. We used to have a fine time with this beaver and one night arranged to have a truckload of groceries left on our back porch but something went wrong.

A neighbor whose number contained the same digits as a joint that specialized in giving scores reports for the convenience of earnest members of the gamboling fraternity finally cracked under the strain of being called out of bed to explain that he did not know how the Pirates came out with the Braves and began to make up his own scores. His masterpiece, he always felt, was the basketball score he made up for a game in Madison Square Garden—111-110, a close game. The fellow at the other end was silent, then asked for a repeat. Then the phone went dead. Apparently the joint went out of business soon after. Gradually the calls quit coming.

It's broad of the telephone people to let customers have our fun and no questions asked. They could charge for wrong-number service too if they felt like it. They must figure that anyone is likely to get mixed up on the last couple of digits. That's life. It's also a fact of the transmitter.

Mackenzie Says Franco May Let Spaniards Vote

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The question of how the UN security council shall handle the Franco regime of Spain continues one of the serious international issues, and the weekend brings the highly interesting indication that the generalissimo may be getting set for a counter-move in the form of a referendum to test the temper of his people. While there has been no official talk of a plebiscite, observers see the possibility of one in the announcement that a census of all Spaniards over [illegible] is to be taken. My recent visit to Spain leads me to believe that it need cause no surprise if Franco tries to put the security council to the test by having a referendum. This might be in the nature of a vote of confidence in his government, or it might adroitly couple this idea with the question of whether the people would like a return of the monarchy. As this column has said previously, I believe he would agree to restoration of the throne if the pretender, Don Juan, would make concessions enabling the general to retire from the dictatorship gracefully, this is, without loss of face.

DewittMackenzie

British Prime Minister Attlee said Saturday that he "should like to see the Spaniards put an end to it (the Franco regime) as quickly as possible." He didn't offer any thoughts as to how the trick should be turned but undoubtedly he had peaceful means in mind since both England and the United States, while anxious to get rid of Franco, are equally anxious to avoid the horrors of civil war. There is, of course, another school which wouldn't be averse to seeing the matter ironed out in that bloody fashion.

There has been no general election in Spain since 1936 when there was established the leftist Republican government which Franco attacked in that year and finally overthrew in 1939. The political pulse of the country hasn't been taken in ten years, and under the totalitarian rule people have acquired the habit of keeping their thoughts to themselves. Thus we can say with a certainty that trying to forecast the outcome of a referendum—even if it were conducted without interference—would be no whit easier than guessing the number of beans in the jar in the window of the corner drug store.

FOOD BATTLE DUE TO REACH PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 29 — food becoming a powerful weapon in world politics, clashing state and agriculture department views over American famine relief methods appear certain today to reach President Truman for decision.

The state department under Acting Secretary Dean Acheson is demanding much more drastic measures—such as seizure of some wheat reserves in the hands of millers—than the agriculture department under Secretary Clinton P. Anderson has been willing to order.

Anderson is responsible for obtaining food supplies in this country for shipment abroad. Acheson is mainly responsible for where these supplies go and what is done with them. Acheson's responsibility is shared, however, with Secretary of War Robert Patterson, under whose direction are American occupation forces in Germany and Japan.

The agriculture secretary, returning from a midwest tour, predicted swelling supplies of grain once spring planting is done and called for greater occupation to meet deficits in grain exports.

Twenty-four hours earlier Acheson had indicated at a news conference his belief that cooperative methods had failed. He added that the solution could lie in seizing the wheat or flour as necessary to meet shipment schedules.

Riots are feared in Germany and Japan, where the safety of American occupation troops is a direct concern of the war department. Neither Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Japan nor Gen. Joseph T. McNarney in Germany is getting more than a small fraction of the grain they requested for the first third of this year.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

PAINTING PLASTER WALLS

Q.: Do clean, bare plaster walls need a sizing of some sort before painting? Before papering?

A.: Before painting a plaster wall with oil paint, size it with the same paint that you will use, thinned with one-eighth as much linseed oil; that is, one pint of linseed oil to the gallon of paint. This should serve, unless otherwise directed on the label of the paint can. Before papering, the walls should be sized with a good glue size. (For kitchen walls enamel is more suitable than flat paint. Enamel undercoater should first be applied, according to instructions on the cans.)

* * *

"WAR PAINT"

Q: Two years ago I painted my kitchen (which always has been painted) with a "war emergency paint." It now is cracking all over. What would you advise me to do? Painting over it won't cover up the cracks and it isn't loose enough to scrape off.

A: I advise you to soften it with a homemade paint remover and then scrape and wipe it off. Dissolve three pounds of trisodium phosphate (buy in a large paint store) in a gallon of hot water and sponge this over a small section of the wall. In a short time the paint should be soft enough to remove easily. After taking it all off, sponge the walls with clear water in order to take off ever trace of the solution. Then go on to another section. If any remains, your new paint will fail. Protect the baseboard and floor from drip. When the walls are clean and dry, apply enamel undercoater (one or two coats) and a finish coat of enamel. Emanel is much more suitable for a kitchen than a flat paint, as its hard, glossy surface does not absorb moisture and grease. Use top quality products.

* * *

Creaking Floors

Q. I bought a house about 18 years old, and the floors creak. Is there any remedy?

A. If occasional boards creak, you may be able to stop the noise by driving long finishing nails in pairs at opposite angles. Drive the nail heads below the surface of the boards with a nailset and fill the holes with a wood putty. For best results locate the floor joists and nail into them. When creaking occurs on the first floor and joists in the basement are open, you may be able to stop it by driving thin ends of shingles under the loosened sub-flooring. If squeaking occurs all over, the floor should be relaid by a competent floor man.

* * *

Removing Wallpaper

Q. What is the best way to remove wallpaper which has been painted over with a water paint? And what should I do to a painted wall, given the same treatment, so that I can use a regular oil paint again?

A. For both jobs sponge the walls with warm water. Use a large sponge, rinsing and squeezing it out frequently and changing the water as soon as it starts to become cloudy. You will need to go all around the walls two or three time to get them clean. This sponging will loosen the wallpaper so that it can be torn off. After taking off the paper, rinse with clear warm water and scrape off hard bits of paper that stick tightly. If you are going to repaper, the walls need to be sized again. I assume ordinary cold water paint was used on the walls.

LEAVING HOUSE VACANT

Q: We are planning to be away for three months this winter. Please repeat the information you gave some time ago on the steps to take when closing a house.

A: A plumber should drain all pipes, forcing all water out of bends, elbows and low spots in pipes, with compressed air. Traps and floor drains must be filled with a non-freezing and non-evaporating liquid, such as the preparation used in automobile radiators for winter driving. Liquids in bottles that might freeze should be disposed of, also oily rags, matches, benzine or gasoline. Gas and electricity should be shut off by the utility company, and the door of the refrigerator left open. Tree branches that overhang the roof should be cut off, to prevent squirrel invasion, and the chimney top should be covered with half-inch wire netting or a box securely fastened on to keep the birds out of the chimney. Carpets and woolens should be moth-proofed and stored away from mice. Furniture and beds should have a generous sprinkling of moth flakes. An isolated house should have lower windows protected with stout shutters. Police should be notified, and pet dogs and cats should not be allowed to stray off at the moment of departure.

Editor Sees Threat to Liberal Religion

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 29—Dr. Emerson Lalone of Boston, editor of the Christian Leader, declared last night that Roman Catholics were "steadily eating away" at religious liberals who believe in the "highest potentialities of mankind."

The Protestant publication editor warned 400 delegates to the biennial assembly of the Universalist Church of America that "hysterical sects" were arising throughout the United States.

"Religious liberals must reach out the hand of fellowship all over the world," said Dr. Lalone, "to Mohammedans, Buddhists, Confusiusts and Jews.

"Roman Catholicism and neo-orthodoxers are steadily eating away at that kind of liberal religion which believes in the highest potentialities of mankind."

Vote "FOR" the School Bonds on May 7

HE WAS THE TALK OF THE TOWN!

He not only shaved your face and trimmed your sideburns, but he gave you all the gossip. Talk! Talk! Talk! We've been talking about needing new School buildings since the days when he was going strong. Well most of our buildings are pretty well beaten up by this time. Maybe we ought to stop talking and start doing.

Marion Women To Attend State Club Convention

WORLD PROBLEMS, viewed by authorities, speakers and students of world affairs, will be presented on the two-day program of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs convention in Cleveland Wednesday and Thursday. The Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and practically all of the more than 30 federated clubs will be represented at the two-day session, to be held at Hotel Statler. Mrs C. W. Weber, of 193 Wildwood court, president of Central district Tuesday will go to Cleveland, where with state officers and district presidents she will be a guest at a dinner to be given by Mrs Leo Schmidt in the evening. Mrs Weber also will preside for the Central district luncheon on Thursday.

"World Peace—Just a Hope or a Reality," is the convention theme. Mrs C. J. Goldthorpe of Youngstown, president of the state organization, will preside and speakers will include Mrs LaFell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Dr. Grace Sloan Overton, nationally recognized author, lecturer and counsellor on family life, marriage and youth; Nora Waln, author of "Reaching for the Stars," a layman's observation on Nazi society; Robert Kazmayer, lecturer on world events, Major Hamilton Long and other equally known personalities. Dr. Overton will speak on "Who is the Future?" Nora Waln's topic will be "China as a Factor for Peace in Asia," Mr. Kazmayer's subject will be "The Emerging Europe and What It Means to Us" and Major Long will speak on "Will America Permit Peace?"

There will be a reception for Mrs. Dickinson on Wednesday night and other social events will include a pioneer luncheon, Junior luncheon and banquet on Wednesday, district luncheons and a Cleveland Night dinner on Thursday.

Mrs W. N. Harder, a past president of the state federation, and chairman of the Pan-American Fellowship fund, will present the federation's fellowship student at Ohio State university, Miss Norma Bolanos of Costa Rica, at the Wednesday evening banquet.

Caledonia Chapter To Hold Initiation

At a meeting of Vera Chapter No 64, Order of Eastern Star, of Caledonia Wednesday evening in the Masonic hall, plans were made for initiation and a mother and daughter banquet to be held May 8. On May 14, the chapter will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary and a program is being planned by the committees.

Honors were given the star points by Mrs. Nell Williams, Mrs Ada Geddis, Mrs. Pearl Coldwell, Mrs Ruby Underwood and Mrs. Helen Campbell. Readings were given by Mrs. Mary Lyon and Mrs Helen Pommert, and a vocal solo was presented by Mrs Edith Wilkins.

A group of officers and members presented 'Adenda, Crown of Life," honoring Esther star point, Mrs Ethel Doyle. A large lighted crown was used in the exercise. Those taking part were Mrs Edna Brocklesby, Mrs Helen Thompson, and Misses Mary Brocklesby, Wanda Geddis, Anna Belle Pommert, Eleanor Pommert, Stella Mae Pommert and Janet Geddis. Mrs Ruth Clark and Mrs Helen Pommert gave a vocal duet, accompanied at the piano by Mrs Edith Wilkins.

CIRCLE GIVES PROGRAM

Mrs Karl Dune was a guest and also enrolled as a member at a meeting of the Missionary society of Emanuel Lutheran church Friday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs George Shoemaker conducted the devotions and the topic, "Zionism" was presented by Mrs A. R. Tennis. Mrs Louise Sims was in charge of the Bible study. Miss Dorothy McClaskey contributed vocal music and Mrs. E. E. Sletvol gave a talk on the India lace schools. Mrs. H. M. Hart gave a talk on churches she visited while in Florida last winter. Refreshments were served by the hostess committee Mrs. E. H. Cooper, Mrs W. W. Collins, Mrs. David Croft, Mrs H. H. Dawson, Mrs W. A. Dorsey and Mrs N. T. Emrick.

CIGARET BRINGS DEATH

Dr. Morrison On Program Here As Auxiliary Meets

DR. A. E. MORRISON was a guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Marion Academy of Medicine Saturday afternoon at Hotel Harding. Hostess for the meeting, which was preceded by a luncheon, was Mrs Harry J. Merchant. During a brief business session it was announced that Mrs Clare W. Smith and Mrs. J. A. Dodd would attend the meeting of the auxiliary to the Ohio State Medical association to be held at Columbus May 7, 8 and 9.

Dr. Morrison's topic was "Cancer and X-ray." One out of eight persons die of cancer he stated, and added that its mortality rate is next to heart trouble in the cause of deaths. He warned that persons should watch for symptoms and said that all women over 40 years of age should have an examination every six months. Pointing out that cancer spreads in three ways, direct growth, through the lymph system to distant parts and through the blood stream, he emphasized that in the early stages the disease can be cured by X-ray because X-ray destroys young cells. A cancer patient is considered cured only after five years, providing there is no new developments, he stated. Attention was called to the $12,000,000 campaign for control and research, and one of the centers for treatment is Memorial hospital in New York City, the speaker stated.

The May meeting will be held with Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer.

ABSENTEES MAY HURT BRITISH LOAN BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 29—The senate, driving toward a vote late this week on the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill, may find a dozen members absent at roll call time.

With both sides predicting a nip-and-tuck battle, the absence—or presence — of these senators could determine the outcome.

Some, such as Senators Glass (D-Va) and Bailey (D-NC) are ill. Others, including Bilbo (D-Miss) and Gossett (D-Idaho) are in their home states campaigning. Senators Connally (D-Texas) and Vandenberg (R-Mich) are in Paris as advisors to Secretary of State Byrnes at the foreign ministers conference.

Of these and six others listed privately as likely absentees, seven either have announced for the credit arrangement or are reported veering in that direction. Two are definitely against it, and another has indicated he probably will vote "no". The other two have not made known their positions.

Thus the administration glumly faces a situation which practically cancels the narrow lead run by loan supporters in a necessarily incomplete poll of the senators. The latest count of those willing to state their positions publicly showed 32 for the loan, 27 against.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Danner of 323 North State street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Betty Louise, to Cpl. Freeland D. Carr, son of Merle Carr of Leader street. The ceremony was read Friday, April 19, at 12 o'clock noon in the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Albert Hood, pastor of the Second Pilgrim Holiness church.

Attending the couple were Miss Lois Danner, sister of the bride and S/Sgt. Joe Oliver, friend of the bridegroom.

The bride chose for her wedding a teel blue suit with which she combined pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Miss Danner was attired in a grey suit with pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink roseouds.

The couple will make their home with the bride's parents for the present. Cpl. Carr is stationed at Greensboro, N. C., and will return to duty May 20.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Betty Eckard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs C. E. Eckard of Jefferson street, to Carl R. Shelton, son of Mr and Mrs B. W. Shelton of Caledonia. The ceremony was read Sunday, April 21, at 1.30 p. m. in Calvary Evangelical church by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Faulkner. Only close friends and relatives attended.

Attending the couple were Mrs Phyllis Stiner of Marion, sister of the bride, and Howard Shelton, brother of the bridegroom.

For her wedding, the bride wore an aqua dress with matching hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. Mrs Stiner was attired in a navy blue dress and white accessories.

A reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents followed the ceremony. Mr. Shelton is employed as a lineman at the Telephone company in Galion and was discharged from the service recently after 13 months service in the Pacific. The couple will make their home in Galion.

Surviving with his widow is one granddaughter, Mrs Delbert Thomas of Marion, and two great grandchildren. He was the last of a family of five. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Moore funeral home by Rev. C. F. Brouse of the Reformed church of Sycamore. Burial will be in Pleasant View cemetery.

OSMENA CONCEDES VICTORY OF ROXAS

By The Associated Press

MANILA, April 29—President-elect Manuel A. Roxas, who will guide the Philippines republic through its critical first years, received the good wishes today of Sergio Osmena, who conceded defeat.

With tabulation of last week's election nearly completed, Roxas held a 183,000-vote lead over Osmena, incumbent president.

For Osmena, the concession represented a temporary end to 42 years as a leader in Philippine politics. For Roxas the victory was the climax of a career which began at 29, when he was elected governor of his home province of Capiz. He is now 54.

In conceding the election, Osmena declared that to 'prolong the passions of election time could lead only to tragic civil strife."

Nevertheless post-election clashes between armed lawless elements and military police were reported from central Luzon, where 11 had been killed.

Benefit Bridge To Be Held for Cancer Drive

PROCEEDS of a benefit bridge to be sponsored by the Marion Unit of the Cancer society and wives of members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon, will be used to aid in carrying on the work of cancer prevention and research. AAA SCORES AMISH FOR TRACTOR-HATING

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, Pa., April 29—Thousands of men, women and children in Europe may starve for want of food this summer because the "religious beliefs" of the Lancaster Amish sect demands they use only horses—and not tractors—to pull farm equipment, says Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Agriculture Adjustment Administration.

Zehner is issuing an appeal to Amish farmers in the fertile Lancaster county section, insisted yesterday he had "no quarrel with people's religious beliefs," but maintained the House Amish failure to use tractors is "very inconsistent" since they have made numerous changes in centuries-old customs.

Zehner declared the sect has submitted mowers for scythes, grain binders for cradles, and threshing machines for flails—but said that tractors most of them own are used "for nearly everything except plowing and harrowing."

"Every tractor that is not used for plowing and harrowing means that at least 32 persons in the starvation areas abroad will be deprived of live-saving grains between now and harvest time in those areas," Zehner said.

The Amish, inhabitants of eastern Pennsylvania who refer to themselves as "plain people," are bound by heritage to wear only dark clothing. The women never wear makeup; the men never cut their hair or beards.

The House Amish differ from the Church Amish in that the latter worship in churches and use tractors for pulling equipment.

Programs on the Air

When dialers heard a baby gurgling and crying on the NBC Abbott and Costello program recently they may have suspected it was not a real baby, but they didn't know it marked the 200th time that Actress Mary Lansing had simulated a bawling brat on the air.

Mary, "radio's pet crybaby," began her unusual career 12 years ago when she was suddenly called upon to double for a baby who failed to cry on cue. Miss Lansing, playing a featured role in the script, stepped in and did such an authentic job that no dialers apparently suspected it wasn't a real infant.

Having developed her own technique by listening to her own two youngsters, Mary can now duplicate the anguished outcries of children of both sexes and all ages. "It's really quite simple," she explains, "I just open my mouth wide and give out from deep in the larynx, while muffling the sound with a handkerchief."

Mary has portrayed all the babies on the Abbott and Costello airshow (except for Lou Costello's own "ba-a-ad boy"), every one of the numerous babies on "Our Man's Family" and scores of small fry on other programs.

Nine announcers are to be used by MBS when it broadcasts the first Indianapolis speedway auto races since 1941. The date, as usual, is Memorial day.

The microphone talkers, headed by the two Slaters, Tom and Bill, will be stationed in the grand stand as well as at various points along the track. The broadcast itself will be divided into three half-hour sections, the start, the mid-point and the finish. A sponsor is paying the way, the network handling on an exclusive basis.

Federation Head To Speak Here at Teachers' Meeting

JOSEPH F. LANDIS

One of two outstanding speakers on the program for the annual banquet of the Marion Federation of Teachers Thursday evening, will be Joseph F. Landis of Cleveland, widely-known educator and national president of the American Federation of Teachers. Sharing the program with Mr. Landis will be Dr. Clyde Hissong, Ohio State director of education.

Mr. Landis is on leave of absence as a classroom teacher of English in the Collinwood High school, Cleveland. He was previously a physical education instructor and athletic director and is well-known in football and basketball circles. A charter member of the Cleveland Local of the American Federation of Teachers and a trustee of the local for five years, he also served as chairman of the organization committee of the Ohio Federation of Teachers and was a member of the legislative committee of the organization for several years. He was elected president of the national organization in 1943 and was reelected in 1944 without opposition.

Dr. Hissong formerly was dean of education at Bowling Green State university.

The banquet will be held in the First Evangelical and Reformed church. Tickets are available from any building representative and anyone interested in education is invited to attend.

Court To Hear Suit for $25,279 Judgment

The $25,279 judgment suit of Mrs. Carrie Favorite of Prospect against Dr. S. W. Mattox of Marion is scheduled to be heard before a jury Tuesday in common pleas court.

In her petition Mrs. Favorite charges she employed Dr. Mattox to treat a left arm fracture which she suffered June 25, 1945, when she fell at her home, that the doctor was negligent in his treatment and as a result the bones never united.

In his answer Dr. Mattox denies he was negligent in his treatment and asked the plaintiff's petition be dismissed.

Moore and Myers are attorneys for Mrs. Favorite and Frank Wiedemann is attorney for Dr. Mattox.

COUNTY CONTRIBUTES TO CANCER DRIVE

Six Towns Help Raise Funds in Campaign.

At least six communities in Marion county are making substantial contributions to the Junior Chamber of Commerce cancer drive, committeemen in charge of the program reported today.

Although no figure on the amount collected in the county was available, Junior Chamber officials said the campaign was going well in Waldo, LaRue, New Bloomington, Meeker, Prospect and Caledonia.

Campaign officials report they have received many inquiries on where contributions may be sent, and they announced the following addresses where the money will be accepted and receipts issued: Duanne Wiseman, Marion-Reserve Power Co.; post office box 132, Marion, and William L. Ogan, 833½ East Center street. Persons seeking further information about the cancer drive may call Mr. Ogan at 2403.

Crawford Co. To Get Fairgrounds Again

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, O., April 29—Crawford county commissioners have announced an agreement with Army officials for return of the county fairgrounds which for three years were used by the military as a railway training center.

Known as Camp Millard, the center trained units which played an important part in maintaining railway transportation for movement of troops and supplies during the invasions of North Africa, Italy and France. New York Central shops here augmented Camp Millard training facilities.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. If you're not fully conscious of such conditions and nothing else shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder, don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
